'SHOOT TO KILL' ORDER GIVEN OHIO MILITIA

AUTO CHIEFS URGE SALES LEVY

Prefer Plan to Present Tax Program, Committee Told; See Peril to Employment

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—Talk of a general sales tax was revived before the Senate Finance Committee today by opponents of the proposed levy on automobiles.

Committee members asked that comparative figures be supplied to show the estimated income from the tax on automobiles, trucks and accessories now in the bill, and from a 2¼ and a 1½ per cent general sales tax.

A little earlier, George M. Graham, head of the Rockne Motors Corporation, had led a group of opponents of the automobile sales tax, including Edsel Ford, Walter Chrysler and Walter P. Sloan, in a concerted drive against that levy. They said they favored a general sales tax, excepting food and clothing, to one which they contended discriminated against their industry.

Mr. Graham testified:

"Every other consideration is unimportant. What the country needs is employment, wages. These are the only factors that can bring permanent recovery.

SEES JOB PERIL

"Balancing the budget is, of course, imperative, but there can hardly be any dissent to the principle that this must not be done at the cost of taking a job from the man who has one, or of keeping idle the man who seeks employment.

"We oppose motor vehicle excise taxes because we believe they are a direct blow at the nation's wages. We are certain that a presentation of the facts will establish our contention."

INDUSTRY 'SICK'

With emphasis, Graham told the committee that the automotive industry is "sicker than it has ever been since its start." He added:

"Earnings fell from $330,000,000 in 1929 and $155,000,000 in 1930 to $66,000,000 in 1931, the figures not including the Ford Company.

"Only the courage and optimism of our manufacturers has kept the business going."

'Black Paw' Sought as Kidnaper

County detectives today took up the trail of "The Black Paw," an unknown person who attempted to kidnap Helen Adams, 14, of Penn Township, last night after leaving a note threatening her with death on the doorsteps of her home.

The girl was seized, detectives said, in the rear of her home late last night by two men who had been hiding in a tooshed nearby.

Grabbing a handkerchief from the girl's apron pocket, the men fashioned it into a gag, then tied her hands with rope.

As they dragged her across the lawn, the girl told detectives, they stumbled over a clothes pole and fell; then, alarmed by a noise from the house, fled, leaving her on th ground.

CHARITY BALL PROMOTER ACCUSED

Held in Unauthorized Use Of Names in Soliciting; Pact Gave Home Fourth

Accused of using the names of prominent persons to boost the sale of tickets to a charity ball, which was to net the Rebekah Home for the Aged only 25 per cent of the funds collected, Philip Shapiro, of 2326 Pittock street, was held in $2,500 bond today by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg. He was charged with false pretense and violating a city ordinance. On the latter charge he was accused of staging a charity drive without permission of the Welfare Department.

Dr. John Hughes testified he had been solicited on the telephone by a person representing himself to be a Dr. Snyder. Dr. W. J. K. Snyder, who for the past 20 years has been donating his services to the home as house physician, testified at the hearing he had not authorized the use of his name.

W. C. Drake, representing the home, testified Shapiro was to conduct the ball, scheduled to be held in the William Penn Hotel, on May 16, pay all expenses and turn over 25 per cent to the home.

In addition to using Dr. Snyder's name, it was testified, the name of Attorney Norval Daugherty, prominent in Odd Fellow circles, and of the Rev. Dr. John Ray Ewers were used.

G. H. Dennison, of the Better Business Bureau, testified his organization had received numerous complaints of solicitors using names of prominent persons.

DARROW NEARS CLOSE OF DEFENSE

Expects to End Case by Thursday; Massie Held Shielding Real Slayer

By JAMES ADAM
International News Service.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 18.—(8:40 a. m., Honolulu time, 1:10 p. m., E. S. T.)—Rapidly marshaling his defense into order, Clarence Darrow announced today that the 'honor slaying' case in behalf of Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, her son-in-law, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, and two naval enlisted men would be closed by Thursday.

Two mainland alienists, Dr. Edward Huntington Williams and Dr. Thomas J. Orbison, who will testify to the 'mental blank' that swept over the naval officer when he stood with his gun in his hand questioning Joseph Kahahawai, will be the star witnesses for Darrow.

Kahahawai confessed to Lieut. Massie that he attacked Mrs. Thalia Massie, pretty young wife of the lieutenant, the moment before the mists descended on Lieut. Massie's brain, and he presumably pulled the trigger of his gun, the officer informed the jury.

Prosecutor John C. Kelley announced that as soon as the defense rests he will call his own alienists to combat Darrow's plea of insanity.

Massie Shielding Killer, Prosecution Charges

HONOLULU, April 18.—(AP.)—Lieut. Thomas H. Massie's courtroom statement that he killed Joseph Kahahawai was attacked by the prosecution today with an assertion that the lieutenant was shielding one of the three persons on trial with him for second degree murder.

An insanity defense being laid through Massie's testimony under the guidance of Clarence Darrow, also drew fire. The plea was

Hitler Sues Self To Prove Ability

BERLIN, April 18.—(INS.)—In an attempt to clear himself of newspaper charges of incompetence, Adolf Hitler, national Socialist leader, today filed charges against himself for alleged "breach of duty," calling upon the courts to determine whether or not the charges made against him in the recent presidential campaign were justified.

German law provides this means of vindication for political officeholders who consider themselves maligned.

Girl Prison Slayer Must Die May 16

HARRISBURG, April 18.—(INS.)—Gov. Gifford Pinchot today fixed the week beginning Monday, May 16, for the execution of Fred Collins, Beaver County Negro, sentenced to death for the slaying of Betty Hickok, daughter of Dr. Asa L. Hickok, former resident psychiatrist at Rockview Penitentiary. Collins was found guilty of murder in the first degree and was sentenced to death in the Center County Court for the slaying of the girl.

TRACE TOLEDO LINDY CALL

TOLEDO, O., April 18.—(AP.)—Information purporting to come from one of the kidnapers of the Lindbergh baby that the child is now in Detroit and will be released safely within a week, was investigated by authorities today.

The new clue was given last night in a mysterious telephone call to the Toledo Times by a man whom police tried to trace, but unsuccessfully.

The man who called said the kidnapers had come to a disagreement and that he wanted Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh, the parents, to be notified not to pay any more ransom.

Giving his name as "Patterson" and his home New York, the mysterious caller informed the Times that a message would be sent within two days to a probate judge in Toledo telling how and where to find the child, safe and well.

"Patterson's" mention of disagreement within the gang conforms, the police pointed out, to much evidence previously accumulated. They expressed the belief that the fact two separate negotiations have been conducted, one in New York, the other in Norfolk, Va., and the failure to return the child when the first $50,000 ransom was paid, were both signs of conflict inside the gang.

3 STRIKERS STRUCK BY BULLETS

Miners Defy Order, Tear Down Barricade Near Adena; One Loses Arm

By AL GOUGH
Staff Correspondent.

CADIZ, O., April 18.—Ohio National Guard troops wounded three striking miners early today as they opened fire on more than 500 strikers and strike sympathizers at the Somers mine of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, near here.

The troops, with gas bombers and machine gun crews supporting the riflemen, blazed away on two sides of the mine as the strikers disregarded barricades and marched through to forbidden territory.

'SHOOT TO KILL'

I heard a militia officer tell his men:

"You are to shoot to kill."

The Somers mine is one of three in this district now under militia protection. On all roads leading to these mines, barricades have been erected, bearing this warning:

"STOP.
"Warning—Keep Out.
"This Road Under Rifle and Machine Gun Fire."

The strikers had marched to picket the mine in protest of operations which were resumed this morning with workmen smuggled in during the night.

MILITIA REINFORCED

When the marchers arrived near the mine they found the militia guard had been strengthened to 200 men by reinforcements from the Third Battalion at Akron.

An airplane from the 112th Observation Squadron at Cleveland was being kept in readiness to aid the troops, officers announced.

All public buildings in Cadiz, where the strikers' headquarters are located, were placed under heavy guard.

The strikers moved toward the mine in trucks and autos and on foot.

The marchers were walking two by two when the first shots were

Boarder Kills Mother of 6 And Self

CHARLEROI, Pa., April 18.—Mrs. John Lazor, 38, mother of six, was murdered by Tony Yernitski, 40, boarder, who then killed himself in her home in North Charleroi, this afternoon, according to police. A son told police Yernitski shot his mother in the head, then fired a bullet into his own head. The son said he did not know the cause of the shooting. The other children were at school and Mrs. Lazor's husband was at work.

Lawrence 'Red Boy' Sale Withdrawn

DURHAM, England, April 18.—(AP.)—The famous painting "The Red Boy," by Lawrence, was withdrawn at £95,000 (about $350,000) in an auction at Lambton Castle, the home of the Earl of Durham, today.

Some years ago it was reported there was an American offer of £160,000 (more than $750,000 then) for the picture.

Big 'Short-Sellers' Listed for Senate; Quiz Exchange Head

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP.)—Nationally prominent names are among the list of short sellers delivered to the Senate Banking Committee by the New York Stock Exchange.

Committee agents said today the list contained orders for 24,000 short sales, but there was some duplication in the list.

A cursory study of the list, committee agents said, did not reveal the name of any member of President Hoover's cabinet, as reported in some quarters today.

The list was withheld temporarily today as Richard Whitney, president of the exchange, was again called to the stand in the committee's investigation of bear raiding.

Appearing again before a capacity crowd, the 43-year-old exchange head defended market practices and denied short selling was a depressing factor.

Whitney testified he had sold short in the past, but not within the past nine months or year. Explaining why he thought short selling necessary, he asserted:

"I believe that short selling is an advantage to the market, because it is an integral part of speculation, the other part being marginal purchasing. Speculation, together with investments, make up the markets of the world.

"To take away one part of speculation or investment leaves the remainder like the man with but one leg. He has lost his equilibrium.

"I don't say short selling will prevent the market going down or put the market up, but without speculation and investment the market cannot exist. Therefore, you can't take away any part of it."

Says Beaver Falls Police Protected Naughty Show

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., April 18.—An entertainment at which liquor was sold, gambling was practiced and nude women danced was guarded or protected by police and city officials, City Councilman Sam A. Hanauer charged today before City Council.

Hanauer declared he had the word of many prominent persons present at the affair last Tuesday night, that it was degrading. He charged:

"There was open drinking and gambling and nude women cavorted on the stage."

He said two policemen were standing outside the door in uniform and that six others were inside the hall. The party broke down the morale of the Police Department, he said.

Hanauer declared if officials were responsible for the affair they should be compelled to resign.

Mayor C. W. Calvin later declared beyond extra police guarding automobiles, city officials had no knowledge of the affair. He asserted Hanauer was "playing politics." An investigation by the ministerial association is said to be probable.

Darrow, 75, Ridicules Puritans, Prohibition

HONOLULU, Hawaii, April 18.—Clarence Darrow, daring strategist of criminal trial procedure, today, on the 75th anniversary of his birth, looked back over 54 years of law practice and said that the Nathan Leopold-Richard Loeb murder case in Chicago was the outstanding event of his long and brilliant career, excluding the present "honor slaying" trial which brought him to Honolulu.

Darrow, whose earnest appeal saved Loeb and Leopold from the gallows in 1924 after they entered a guilty plea to the charge of killing Bobby Franks, 14, said he believes now they should eventually be freed, provided a series of mental tests show the thrill slayers to be sane. He added:

"If they are not sane or right mentally they should never get out of prison."

Darrow, known as perhaps the nation's leading defender of the downtrodden, declared society is still struggling with the crime problem, but has not made any material advance in the treatment of crime and criminals during his lifetime. He explained:

"There are too many laws, for one thing. Too many laws cause an increase in crime, but the people never think of that. A glaring example is the Volstead law. How many people observe it? How much crime has it caused? How many people have been arrested and gone to jail because of it?"

Darrow also poked fun at Puritanism and said the world was not getting any better.

"If Massie killed Kahahawai why did he use Jones' gun instead of his own? It admits that he brought his own gun to the Fortescue house where Kahahawai was killed that morning.

"You get used to a gun like a wrist watch or other personal equipment. So far as Massie knew, Jones' gun was not loaded. Yet he says he used Jones' gun although he had his own with him."

USED JONES' PISTOL

Massie [illegible] day, admitted [illegible] killed the Hawaiian [illegible] Jones' pistol [illegible] his mind were [illegible] Kahahawai saying 'Yes, I have it,' admitted that he and four others attacked Mrs. Massie.

Kelley said:

"Massie has not put forth any insanity case yet nor from his story. The lapse of memory he tells about is not insanity.

"He says he is convinced Kahahawai attacked his wife. According to his testimony the only thing Kahahawai told him was, 'Yes, we done it.' Massie already knew that.

"It is not like you got kicked on the head and had an immediate response. There was nothing like that occurred in the Fortescue house to make Massie insane."

Kelley disclosed that he will use both local and mainland alienist witnesses to refute the insanity plea. The local alienists he named as Drs. Roderic Faus city and county physician, and Stanley Porteus, professor of psychology at the University of Hawaii. They have been in court each day observing Massie. Kelley declined to disclose the names of the mainland alienist.

CHARGES PREMEDITATION

Besides attacking the insanity plea and the Lieutenant's assumption of responsibility, Kelley also assailed the contention that the slaying was not premeditated. He asserted:

"If the defendants did not plan to kill Kahahawai when they took him to the Fortescue house, they made all preparations to do it."

FAVOR HOOVER'S ECONOMY PLAN

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—The House Economy Committee today definitely decided to follow its retrenchment program [illegible] one omnibus bill for submission to the House as a part of the legislative department appropriation measure.

In taking this action, the committee followed the proposal of President Hoover. It overrode its chairman, Representative McDuffie of Alabama, who had held out for a separate proposal to cut federal salaries.

Members of the committee said either the McDuffie 11 per cent salary cut proposal or President Hoover's plan for a five-day work week and annual leave without pay for federal workers would be included in the omnibus bill. No action has been taken on these two plans.

BROTHERS HELD IN 11 ROBBERIES

John and Ralph Patterson, of 711 West street, Wilkinsburg, have confessed to 11 store holdups in East End communities, Swissvale police said today.

The brothers were to be given hearings before Swissvale Rankin Wilkinsburg and Edgewood justices of the peace today and in East End police court tomorrow.

Stores the pair admitted robbing, police said, were in Homewood, Wilkinsburg, Edgewood, Swissvale and Rankin.

Patrolman John Hanna, of Swissvale, arrested John Patterson Friday when he found him in the borough loitering near a store which had been robbed some time before. Ralph was arrested the next day and police said both made full confessions after being identified by several of their victims.

BUS RATE CURB URGED BY I.C.C. TO AID RAILS

Suggests Greater Use of Highways; Competition in Transportation Harmful

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today recommended federal regulation of motor vehicles engaged in interstate commerce and that railroads and water lines be encouraged to use the public highways.

The commission's decision, in the form of recommendations which are expected to be transmitted to Congress, makes the following findings:

"That transportation by motor vehicles, buses and trucks, over the public highways is, within certain distances, and in certain respects, a superior service, and that the rail and water lines should be encouraged in the use of this instrumentality of commerce wherever such use will promote more efficient operation or improve the public service.

"That there is substantial competition between rail and water carriers on the one hand and motor carriers on the other for the transportation of both passengers and freight, and that this competition is increasing.

"That such competition is conducted under conditions of inequality, particularly in regard to regulation:

"That a contributing cause, aside from the general business conditions, of the present unsatisfactory financial condition of the railroads, is the existence of unrestrained competition by rival transportation agencies;

"That there is today and probably would be under normal conditions an excess of carrying capacity of existing transportation facilities;

"That unrestrained competition is an impossible solution of the present transportation problem and is incompatible with the aims of co-ordination under regulation;

"That federal legislation relating to the regulation of motor vehicles operating upon the public highways in interstate commerce, is desirable in the public interest."

King and Queen Guests at Wedding

LONDON, April 18.—(AP)—The King and Queen drove down from Windsor Castle today to attend the wedding at Westminster Abbey of Lord Hyde and the Hon. Marion Glyn. He is the son of Lord Clarendon, governor-general of South Africa. She is the daughter of Lord and Lady Wolverton.

Their Majesties conferred an additional honor on the couple by sending separate wedding gifts. The King sent the bridegroom, who is his godson, a magnificent silver bowl. Miss Glyn received a diamond brooch from the Queen.

BONUS FRIENDS END TESTIMONY IN HOUSE

Committee Prepares to Hear Foes of Measure to Pay Cash to Veterans

WASHINGTON, April 18 (AP)—Advocates of passing the $2,000,000,000 soldiers' bonus today closed their case before the House Ways and Means Committee and opposition testimony directed by administration and Democratic leaders against the plan will begin tomorrow.

Advocates have spent more than a week in presenting their contentions that inflation of the currency to pay the remaining outstanding on the bonus certificates would prove a spur to business.

DETROIT CITED

David V. Amos, of Detroit, representative of the Wayne County Council of the American Legion, including 52 posts, was today's first witness. Amos said:

"Detroit has suffered greater injury from bad economic conditions than any other area. In the last three years Detroit has spent $25,000,000 on welfare, and this does not include the huge sums spent by private charities."

Representative Sweeney (Dem.), of Ohio, said his constituents were for the bonus payment and that Ohio would receive $117,000,000 if the payment were made. He asserted:

"Better an unbalanced budget than revolution."

Edward C. McConnell, of New York City, said he was a chauffeur for the general staff in France during the war. He said:

"I was one of six assigned to 'Black Jack' Pershing after Eddie Rickenbacker left to go into the service. I was assigned to drive Herbert Hoover when he directed Belgian food relief and drove him for over a year.

"I came down here trying to get a place. I had been a chauffeur in New York for 28 years.

"I saw Lawrence Richey, private secretary to the President, and he advised me to take a civil service examination. I did, and passed it with 97 per cent.

"I went to see Gen. Pershing. His secretary emphasized that I should not ask for work or annoy him with my troubles. I lived up to that promise.

"I believe the only way to help the country is to pay the bonus and let it go to those that need it."

FAMILIES FLEE BRADDOCK FIRE

Four families, including several small children, were routed from their homes early today by a stubborn blaze which partly destroyed two buildings in the Braddock business district.

The fire started in the basement of the Sugar Bowl candy store, at 616 Braddock avenue. The family of J. E. Cerva, proprietor of the candy store, including four small children, were forced to flee their apartments by the flames. Smoke filled the adjacent three-story brick building housing the Hollander Drug Company, forcing three families from their apartments. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

Lost Honeymooners Found Shipwrecked

SAN PEDRO, Cal., April 18.—(AP)—Missing at sea for several days, Dr. and Mrs. Hoot Ralph, honeymooners, were found by coast guardsmen on San Clemente Island last night. Their 50-foot power boat had been wrecked on the shore and they were safe at a ranch house five miles inland.

Ralph, a county lifeguard, and his bride left a week ago for Catalina Island. They were due back here Friday. A search was started after they failed to return.

fired. Their leaders insisted they were observing the sheriff's orders, which are that not more than three persons should congregate within a mile of the mine.

PASS BARRICADE

About 200 strikers marched through the barricade at the Short Creek end of the mine. Between 300 and 400 swarmed up the road from Duncanwood, on the opposite side of the workings.

The militia riflemen, now thrown out in skirmish formation, were ordered to fire when the lines of marchers passed the barricades. As the marchers tossed the obstructions aside and continued toward the mine itself, the militia opened fire.

On the Short Creek side, one man was wounded, on the Duncanwood road, two.

I was at the mine office when the firing occurred. As the strikers started an orderly retreat, hailing a little more than a mile away, I told one of the militia officers I would drive down and find if anyone had been wounded.

THREE WOUNDED

There I found that three men had been wounded slightly by the militia rifle fire. They are Elmer Trionfi, 20, of Pines Fork, shot in the leg; Louis Porter, 32, of Bellaire, shot in heel, and Frank Spadaford, 52, of Dillonvale, shot in the arm.

Spadaford's arm was amputated in a Wheeling hospital where he was taken this morning. Soon afterward, Mike Cosmos, 40, of Akron, O., a militiaman, wounded in fighting at the Somers mine on Friday, was placed on the operating table and a leg amputated at the knee.

As I returned toward the mine, a rifleman in the militia lines fired twice at my car. I got out so they might see who I was. They fired two more shots at me, so I thought it was a good time to leave. And I don't care whether that officer ever learns how many strikers his men wounded.

Earlier in the day, the militia had fired on two Columbus newspapermen as they neared the mine, too. They also left in a hurry.

FUNERAL FOR VICTIM

Funeral services were held yesterday for William Kimbell, Bradley miner, who was killed at the Somers mine during a riot several days ago. Almost 10,000 strikers attended the rites. No troopers were there.

In addition to the Somers mine, the properties of the Tasa Mining Company and the Harmon Creek Coal Company, both near Hopedale, were being patrolled by heavy militia details.

The strike was called April 1 by United Mine Workers officials throughout the Eastern Ohio field in protest of wage reductions said to approximate 25 per cent. The new scale was $3.50 a day for day work and 38 cents for tonnage, much lower than the scale under which the Somers miners had been working.

Hawks in Hospital For Plastic Surgery

BOSTON, April 18.—(AP)—Capt. Frank M. Hawks, speed flier, whose nose and jaw were broken when his plane crashed at Worcester, April 7, was brought to the Phillips House of the Massachusetts General Hospital yesterday to undergo operations by a plastic surgeon.

Capt. Hawks was accompanied on the 45-mile ambulance trip from the Worcester City Hospital by Mrs. Hawks and Speed, an Aberdeen terrier.

China's Ice Cream Pioneer Sent to Pen

SHANGHAI, April 18.—(AP)—Paul Crawley, American promoter, was convicted here today of smuggling opium into the United States aboard the U. S. naval transport Chaumont and sentenced to two years in the McNeil Island Federal Penitentiary.

Crawley, known here as "the man who introduced ice cream into China," changed his plea to guilty following his conviction today to make possible a quick sentence.

Mary Astor, Mate Plan Tahiti Voyage

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(INS)—Mary Astor, the film star, and her husband, Dr. Franklin Thorpe, Hollywood physician, have applied for passports at the Federal Court.

Miss Astor said she and her husband planned to sail in May on their yacht, the Henrietta, for Tahiti, and would return several weeks later via Hawaii. Recent reports said the stork was expected at the Thorpe home.

Two Irish Leaders Die on Same Day

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, April 18.—(AP)—Two prominent figures in Irish politics died yesterday.

Capt. William Archer Redmond, member of the Dail Eireann for Waterford, collapsed and died beside the grave of a friend, while Jeremiah MacVeagh, who was Irish National member of the British House of Commons from 1902 to 1920, succumbed here.

Convict's Letter Forecast Death Battle in Pen

A letter intercepted by city detectives from George Thompson, an inmate of Western Penitentiary, to a brother, revealing that he feared he would be killed, will be introduced at the inquest Thursday into the double slaying in the prison yard, April 7.

Thompson's two fellow inmates, Martin Connelly, 29, and Michael Farrare, 21, both of Pittsburgh, the latter a so-called "thrill slayer," were stabbed to death by James Gordon, also a convict, who was himself stabbed, according to police.

Thompson wrote, on April 5, speaking of Gordon's release from solitary confinement after apparent inter-gang trouble:

"I think they are trying to get me killed because that gang is absolutely insane. He (Gordon) has attacked three or four men in here with hammers, knives and clubs, and they let him get away with it with only a few months of being locked up. He tried to kill me some time ago. They let him out last night. Come down at once."

Detectives reported their investigation indicated Gordon was attacked first before disarming an assailant and stabbing the two victims.

MOB LYNCHES SLAYER OF GIRL AT SCENE OF CRIME

CROWD KIDNAPS DEPUTY, THEN RAIDS JAIL

Killer on Verge of Doom Stolidly Admits Guilt, Says He Expected Fate

International News Service.

ST. FRANCIS, Kan., April 18.—An infuriated mob of 1,500 men kidnaped Richard Read, 53 year-old farmer, from his jail cell here early today and hanged him to a tree near the spot where he had attacked and murdered 8-year-old Dorothy Hunter.

First the crowd, traveling in automobiles, seized Deputy Sheriff J. H. Indos, of Cheyenne County, drove him out into the country and forced him to surrender the keys to the jail.

Then the mob returned to the prison and, overwhelming the jail keepers, kidnaped Read.

TAKEN TO DEATH SCENE

Binding the prisoner, the shouting crowd swept him out of the jail and pushed him into an automobile. Through the heavy Kansas night the long caravan of cars proceeded along the road to a spot near Achielles, where the Hunter girl's body was found in a haystack last Saturday.

According to eye-witnesses of the lynching, Read met his fate stolidly and without pleading for his life. After the heavy rope noose was slipped over his head and the other end fastened to a limb of the tree, ringleaders of the crowd asked Read if he had anything to say before going to his death. He replied:

"Boys, you have the right man. I did it. But I was drunk at the time."

EXPECTED LYNCHING

Just before Read was jerked up from the ground to die, according to eye-witnesses, he mumbled:

"I knew you were going to hang me."

The hanging culminated two days of fast-spreading indignation throughout the countryside against the farmer. Yesterday he was saved from the fury of a mob when he was spirited away from the jail at Colby and brought to the local prison. The crowd had threatened to storm the Colby jail.

The transfer of the confessed murderer from one jail to another proved futile, for within a few hours the mob of farmers and townspeople learned that he was here and appeared before the Cheyenne County Jail.

Some of the men were armed, according to Deputy Sheriff Indos, who said they forced him to surrender the keys at the points of revolvers.

Kidnaped Girl Returned, Man's Arrest Reported

WILMINGTON, Del., April 18.—(AP)—With Hilda Brodsky, 8, returned to her home unharmed, one man was reported under arrest today in connection with the kidnaping of the girl, and a known underworld character was being hunted in Philadelphia. Police, however, denied there had been any arrest.

The girl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brodsky, who was lured into an automobile while on her way to school last Friday, was handed over to Philadelphia police yesterday.

The abductors took the child to the Rev. Joseph M. Pugliese, rector of St. Mary Magdalene De Pazzi church in Philadelphia. Brodsky said no ransom had been paid and no immunity promised.

Hilda was taken to Philadelphia immediately after being lured into the automobile by a man and a woman. She was kept in that city until the abductors apparently decided the trail was getting too warm and turned her over to Father Pugliese and his assistant.

Better City Observes Quake Anniversary

SAN FRANCISCO, April 18.—(AP)—A greater San Francisco, risen from the ruins of disaster, was the keystone of a program today in observance of the 26th anniversary of the city's earthquake and fire which claimed more than 500 lives and destroyed property valued at $400,000,000. At a luncheon sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, civic leaders pointed to skyscrapers and busy streets in proof San Francisco had risen.

Find Brother-in-Law Of Markham Dead

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—Daniel M. Murphy, literary agent and brother-in-law of Edwin Markham, the poet, was found dead in his East Thirty-first street apartment today. Physicians said he had suffered a stroke and had been dead since Saturday.

Joan Bennett Made 'Colonel' of Artillery

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(AP)—Diminutive Joan Bennett, film actress, who couldn't buy a regulation Sam Browne belt small enough to fit her, is to be made an honorary colonel of the 347th Field Artillery, United States Army.

Permission to pin the silver eagles on the actress' shoulders was received by Col. Jean Allard Jeancon, who said the ceremony would be held at a Hollywood banquet April 30.

TROUT CATCHES DISAPPOINT

The first weekend of the opening of trout season was a disappointment to Pittsburgh fishermen. Catches were few and far between, in the Ligonier Valley. Experienced fishermen say the weather was the worst they have seen in many a year. Friday, the first day of the season, the thermometer registered 10 degrees above zero along Linn's Run. The melting snow was also a hindrance for the luring of the fish, fishermen said.

Joseph Gerst, Jr., of Beechview was envied by all fishermen in the valley. He celebrated his twelfth birthday by making the first catch of the season in that section. He and his father, Joseph H. Gerst, caught 15 trout the opening day.

The approaching warmer weather will bring a great many fishermen to mountain streams, it was predicted by experienced sportsmen.

FEDERAL COAL CONTROL HIT

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(INS)—Representatives of eight large coal consuming organizations today protested to the Senate mining committee against creation of a federal coal commission.

The organizations declared the Davis-Kelly bill creating the commission would add $11,000,000 in taxes annually to the cost of producing coal. The witnesses estimated an increase of $1 a ton in the cost of bituminous coal.

C. E. Bockus, New York City, president National Coal Association, said:

"I know of no single operator in Virginia, where the mines of my company are located, who is not opposed to the passage of the Davis-Kelly bill."

The eight consuming organizations were: American Gas Association, Association of Railway Executives, Baltimore Association of Commerce, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, National Association of Manufacturers, National Electric Light Association, National Retail Coal Merchants Association and Railway Business Association.

Betrayed by Wire, Fugitive Held Here

Arrested in a downtown bus station, Richard Gibney, 29, alias R. Gibbs, of York, was being held by detectives here pending the arrival of authorities from York who say Gibney is charged with embezzlement of $20,000. Gibney was recently arrested in Reno, Nev., police said, and escaped Saturday in Fort Wayne, Ind. After his escape he telegraphed his wife, it is said, York detectives notified Pittsburgh detectives who arrested Gibney.

Jail Term Given Man for Slaying

August Delpiere, of Arlington, N. J., pleaded guilty to a charge of murder in Criminal Court today in the fatal stabbing of William C. Louden, 26, of 1030 Banksville road, in a fight over two girls in Federal street, last September 2. Visiting Judge J. Frank Graff fixed the degree at voluntary manslaughter and sentenced Delpiere from 18 months to three years in jail.

POLITICIAN GETS DOPE TERM

James Lancia, of Bedford avenue, former Republican district chairman in the Second Ward, and two others, were given jail sentences and fined $50 each, charged with violating the narcotic laws, in Federal Court today.

Lancia was given six months; Joe Lacastro, of Bustrick way, six months, and Salvatore Corselle, of Suismon street, North Side, one year.

All were convicted in two trials in February of conspiracy and of selling and possessing narcotics. Sentence was imposed today by Judges F. P. Schoonmaker and Nelson McVicar after motions for new trials had been withdrawn.

Illness of 1,500 Traced to Insect

SANTA PAULA, Cal., April 18.—(AP)—Larvae from the midas fly, blood-sucking insect common to river waters, was blamed today for the illness of nearly 1,000 residents of this city, stricken in the past four days with stomach disorders.

Dr. J. A. King, county health officer, said a study of water samples taken from Santa Paula city hydrants filled from Santa Paula Creek, disclosed the existence of the larvae.

Seek Student Lost At Seashore Picnic

Reeve's father, Frederick E. Reeve, of Western Springs, Ill., a wealthy Chicago business man, was en route here to take charge of the search. It was feared the youth was drowned.

Boy Flings Off Flaming Coat, Dog Saves Building

KANSAS CITY, April 18.—(AP)—Maggie Doodlebug, year-old Boston terrier, is a fire fighter.

She had been trained to put out burning cigarets and paper, but was equal to a more severe test when her young master's clothes caught fire from a gas heater yesterday.

The boy, Lester Warrensburg, 10, threw his flaming coat into a corner containing the dog's bed.

By the time he extinguished the flames in his other garments, Maggie Doodlebug had tramped out the fire in the corner and perhaps averted an apartment fire.

Both were burned. The boy is confined to bed. The dog is up and around.

AIMEE REFUSES TO VIEW PRIZE PAINTING

Characterizes as 'Untrue' Art Work Showing Dollar Sign Over Angelus Temple

It was painted by Barse Miller, vice president of the California Art Club. The club extended the Huttons an invitation to view it.

Because the subject matter was "too controversial," the painting was barred yesterday from the Los Angeles Museum. Previous to its showing there, the painting had been awarded the Clara B. Dyar prize for "the best interpretation of the Los Angeles scene."

2D BANK DEATH TRIAL OPENS

The trial of Mike Mamula, 32, of Youngstown, O., the second man to face a jury in two weeks for the killing of Charles McFarland, 32, cashier of the Allegheny Valley Trust Company, at Verona on December 6, 1930, started in Criminal Court today.

Matt Hadok, 34, of Youngstown, was found guilty of first degree murder last week for McFarland's death, which occurred during a holdup which netted the robbers slightly more than $1,000.

The state charges Mamula drove Hadok's getaway car and is asking a first-degree verdict against him.

JAP WARNING AIMED AT RUSSIA

'Serious Consequences' to Follow Further Bombings, Tokio Spokesman Asserts

BY JAMES R. YOUNG

International News Service.

TOKIO, April 18.—The strain of relations between Japan and Russia reached a new tenseness today as Tokio heard many startling reports from Manchuria.

Coincident with the report of the Japanese consul at Harbin that the recent bombing of a Japanese troop train south of there was due to Russian Communists, a spokesman for the Japanese foreign office warned that "serious consequences would follow" if the train bombing reiterated.

The Harbin report, confirmed Tokio that the feud between Russian and Japanese in Northern Manchuria has reached an alarming stage through reports that the Soviets are preparing for a clash along their Siberian border.

The foreign office spokesman declared Japan had not closed her eyes to the fact that Russians are dissatisfied with Japanese activity in North Manchuria because of its effect on Communism and Red influence. The spokesman said:

Pointing out that the Russians are reported to have concentrated nine divisions, totaling 70,000 men, in the Pogranichnaya district near the Siberian border, the spokesman declared these Soviet troops would readily annihilate the Japanese forces there, consisting of only two divisions unless they were heavily reinforced.

He said:

"Japan does not desire to attack, but fighting is possible if the Soviets attack the Manchurian state's troops as they did in 1929, causing action by Tokio."

MOSCOW, April 18.—(INS)—The Russian press is growing daily more hostile in its attitude toward Japan and Japanese militarists, who are accused of imperialistic designs in the Far East.

The semi-official Izvestia declared today:

"The links in a chain of provocations are being forced rapidly. Evidently the adventurers in Manchuria are in a hurry.

THOUSANDS DIE IN CHINA QUAKE

SHANGHAI, April 18.—(INS)—Tens of thousands of Chinese were wiped out in a severe earthquake which shook the northern part of Hupeh Province on April 6, according to reports received here today.

The reports, which were meager, said in many cases whole villages were leveled, while the bodies of victims still lay about untouched.

The regions involved were left virtually without communication with the outside world.

Spinach Hailed As Eyesight Aid

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(AP)—One bather was drowned and 104 others were rescued from heavy surf along Southern California beaches yesterday. The drowned man, Guy Forbes of Los Angeles, was caught in an undertow near El Segundo.

DRY DIRECTOR BACKS AGENTS IN KILLING

Not Guilty of Crime, but Don't Measure Up to Standards, Woodcock Says

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition director, in a statement today said he believed Prohibition Agents N. D. Heaton and L. C. Smith, who shot and killed Marion McClothlin at Dallas, April 8 were not guilty of any crime, but had not measured up to the standard set for prohibition agents.

Woodcock said the matter of guilt was one for the courts to determine, but information in his report was that the men fired "in self-defense" and "anyone has a right to defend his life."

The Director said that since the shooting he had learned that Smith had previously been convicted of manslaughter. He said that the conviction was unknown to the Civil Service Commission which qualified him and that he knew nothing of his record.

Agent Heaton, he said, seemed to have been the prime mover in events which caused the tragedy and had attempted to arrest a person for whom he had no warrant. He ordered both agents suspended.

WOMEN SUBMIT DRY DEMAND

WASHINGTON, April 18.—(AP)—Rigid enforcement of prohibition and ample appropriations to carry it out were demanded today by the Women's National Committee for Law Enforcement, meeting here.

These demands, expressed in resolutions adopted by the committee's executive body, were carried to Congress by hundreds of women prohibition supporters, headed by Mrs. Henry W. Peabody of Massachusetts and Florida.

The resolution declared "we deplore persistent attacks on the Constitution, the supreme law, by a minority in Congress, sworn to support and defend the law who are acting in the interest of the return of the outlawed liquor traffic."

Opposition to repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment, modification or any weakening of the Volstead act also was expressed.

600 Go on Strike At Avella Mines

WASHINGTON, Pa., April 18.—Miners employed at three plants in the Avella district have walked out under leadership of officials of United Mine Workers of America.

Two hundred men at Aurora mine of the Duquesne Coal Company failed to report for work Saturday morning. Workers at P. & W. mine, of the Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Company, 280 in number, and 150 at the Paxton mine of the Leech Farm Coal Company joined the Duquesne Company strikers.

Restaurant Held Up By 2 in Ambridge

AMBRIDGE, Pa., April 18.—Two armed men entered the Cosmopolitan restaurant at 329 Fourteenth street early today and after ordering a cup of coffee, held up and robbed Thomas Daniels, waiter, of $160, according to police report.

Daniels told police he was alone in the restaurant when the pair entered and forced him to open the cash register.

Homemade Boat Upsets, Two Drown

PHILADELPHIA, April 18.—(AP)—When their home-made boat, with an outboard motor, overturned on the Delaware River yesterday, Elmer Bintner and Charles McKeel were drowned.

Futile attempts to save them were made by Bintner's brother, John, and Howard Ayers, who had been watching from a wharf.

GROTTO HOME FACES TWO SUITS

Plaintiff Charges Damage to Property

Over the gala events which marked the dedication of the new Islam Grotto, East Montgomery avenue, North Side, hung the shadow of two civil suits filed by Mrs. Clara Carlin Flinner, of 4014 Brighton road, for property damages and electricity.

In a $25,000 joint suit against the Grotto and R. E. Harris, contractor, Mrs. Flinner, daughter of Thomas Carlin, former North Side foundryman, charges her property at 111 E. Montgomery avenue was damaged beyond repair by excavations for the new Grotto building.

In an additional complaint suit she also charges a $1,000 encroachment of the new Grotto building on her property. The suits came after several years of controversy and [illegible] negotiations between Mrs. Flinner and Islam Grotto officials, she said. She continued:

"Several years ago I was offered $25,000 for my property by a committee from the Grotto. I told them I would sell for $24,000, because I was interested in the fine new building for the North Side. I was to receive $1,000 hand money, but the negotiations were verbal and I learned the Grotto decided not to buy."

The Grotto building, it is charged, takes away her 14-foot alley and back entrance, and is built up against her foundation with only a thin tar paper be-

The Donahoe Label Protects Your Table

Why GOOD coffee is CHEAP at DONAHOE'S

ON MARCH 16, 1931, WE ADVERTISED IN THE PITTSBURGH PAPERS: "Coffee in Brazil is in a highly chaotic condition—prices are demoralized, everything pertaining to coffee is topsy-turvy and good Brazilian coffee is actually being exported for less money than it costs to grow it."

On the same day—March 16, 1931—we discontinued our lowest-priced coffee, and began to sell our My-Te-Good Coffee, at a lower price than the lowest-priced coffee we had ever sold before—this because we saw the trend of the market—and had bought "good Brazilian Coffee for less money than it cost to grow it."

Meanwhile other coffee merchants keep prices up—they held on and on—they did not pass on to the public the advantages gained through the demoralization of the Brazilian coffee market. For weeks and weeks, for months and months—Donahoe's were the ONLY large coffee merchants in Pittsburgh selling coffee at the price it should bring based on wholesale coffee prices in Brazil.

Then came the United Press dispatch from Rio de Janeiro that FIVE THOUSAND TONS of Brazilian Coffees had been dumped into the Atlantic Ocean on June 6, 1931, and now—slowly, reluctantly, other coffee merchants in Pittsburgh began to slightly lower prices.

In July, 1931, the Tea and Coffee Journal wrote: "The destruction of this enormous amount of coffee—five thousand tons—which, despite its huge bulk, is infinitesimal when compared to the millions of bags of coffee stored in Brazilian warehouses, is the first wholesale disposal of the 45,000 tons of coffee which the government proposes to remove from the market by throwing it into the sea."

Then came the burning of coffee in the Allemoa Swamps, Brazil. On June 18, 1931, the National Coffee Council announced that 454,663 bags of Coffee had been destroyed and that they would continue to burn up an average of 5000 bags of coffee daily to improve the condition of the industry.

the Brazilian Government has destroyed OVER

TRI-STATE TYPO GROUP ELECTS

The Tri-state Typographical Conference at the closing session of a two-day conference in Hotel Schenley yesterday selected Cumberland, Md., for the next meeting in October. Samuel Harris of Wheeling was elected president to succeed T. J. Little, of McKeesport, and Clyde Slick, of Johnstown, was named secretary-treasurer.

Speakers included Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical Union; John A. Phillips, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor; Peter Bollenbacher, Pittsburgh conciliator for the State Department of Labor and Industry, and H. I. Woodmansee, president of Local No. 7.

Among problems discussed was unemployment and means of overcoming it.

Outburst Interrupts Mussolini Play

BERLIN, April 18 (AP).—A dispatch from Warsaw to Wolff's News Agency said the opening performance there of Benito Mussolini's play "Campo Di Maggio" was interrupted last night by Anti-Fascists, who showered the audience in the National Theater with handbills and shouted:

"Down with the dictatorship."

Oakland School To Stage Cantata

Pupils of Holmes School, Oakland, will present a spring program Wednesday afternoon. A cantata, "The Promised Land," by the seventh and eighth grades and a play, "Singing Strings," by the eighth grade are to be features.

SKILLED WORKMEN'S EXHIBITION GIMBELS

HUNGRY, DADDY!

THE fate of commercial enterprises . . . banking institutions . . . nations . . . hangs on a baby's happiness. For who can resist a hungry baby's cry!

There are thousands in Pittsburgh. Unhappy . . . crying . . . hungry babies whose fathers possess the skill to build things you need—and in turn to buy milk and eggs and bread for their babies.

These Pittsburgh craftsmen must work. Their babies must be fed. Knowing that their townsmen will help if the way is but pointed out, workmen representing Pittsburgh trades have entered our store and "set up shop." Right on our floors they are making furniture, mattresses, china, glass, umbrellas, curtains, candy, food—the things for which the Pittsburgh district is known around the globe.

There is not a great deal we, as a store, can do to put Pittsburgh back to work. But we can give you a panoramic view of Pittsburgh at work; we can give preference to Pittsburgh goods in our own buying; we can ask that you give preference to Pittsburgh products.

Join with us in this dramatic crusade to keep Pittsburgh skilled workmen busy and put more Pittsburgh skilled craftsmen to work. See the

BRITISH CABINET IN DEBT ROW

LONDON, April 18. (INS.)—The question of the British war debt payment due to the United States in July was the subject of bitter debate at a cabinet meeting today.

In previous years, the debt installments have been allocated by the government as "necessary expenditures," but they always have been offset by payments received by Britain from European countries, leaving a slight balance in British favor.

A considerable section of British officialdom feels that as no European contributions to the debt payment can be expected this year, therefore the United States cannot expect payment from Britain.

The British treasury, however, takes the strict legal view that funds for the debt payment must be provided, even though this step would wipe out all hopes of immediate remission of taxation. The treasury also ignores the views of optimists who hope for an extension of the Hoover moratorium as well as those who expect the United States will be reconciled to non-payment by Britain in the event Britain's European debtors default.

As a result of this situation, Chancelor of the Exchequer Chamberlain must either make provision for the July payment or virtually declare a default.

PINCHOT DENIES RELIEF DELAY

HARRISBURG, April 18 (AP.)—Gov. Pinchot today issued a statement asserting that Col. Ernest Smith, editor of the Wilkes-Barre Times-Leader, is "mistaken" in an assertion printed in the newspaper yesterday to the effect that $13,000,000 can be spent for unemployment relief if the state "goes ahead" with building construction authorized by the 1931 Legislature.

Officials of the State Department of Property and Supplies yesterday followed publication of the Times-Leader's story with an assertion that state finances do not permit immediate and simultaneous expenditure of the $12,748,400 appropriated by the last regular session of the Legislature for construction work.

They said that on March 15, 60 per cent of the appropriation of $7,643,000 was under contract or already advertised as biddable. While figures to April 1 were not available, they said, it was likely that the contracted work totaled 70 per cent of the appropriation.

Spurned Suitor, 59, Kills Girl and Self

COLUMBUS, O., April 18.—(AP.)—Unrequitted love of a 59-year-old suitor for a young women of 25 led to their deaths last night in what police said was a murder and suicide.

Marie Legg, after refusing the attentions of William Goodyear, 59, was shot and killed by him as she awaited the coming of another suitor at the home of a friend. Goodyear fatally wounded himself when cornered in his apartment by police.

First Helium Gas In Europe Found

TOULON, France, April 18. (INS.)—A French hydrologist, Dr. Charmont, today announced discovery of the first European source of helium gas. He declared soundings had revealed an abundant supply of helium beneath a thickly-populated section of Toulon.

The gas, non-inflammable, has a high commercial value for use in lighter-than-air craft. The only commercial source now is in the American state of Texas.

Independents Back Sams for Legislature

Earl R. Sams, constable of the Fifth Ward, has been indorsed in his candidacy for member of the Legislature from the First District by the Independent Republican organization, according to announcement from its headquarters, Magee Building. Sams also has the indorsement of John J. Bennine, leader of the Fifth Ward Independent organization, the announcement stated.

College Journalists Honor Pitt Head

William S. Maulsby, head of the department of journalism, University of Pittsburgh, was chosen executive secretary of the Intercollegiate Newspaper Association of Pennsylvania at a two-day convention held in Haverford, Pa. Next fall's convention will be held at the University of Pittsburgh.

SUBWAY PLANS READY FOR COUNCIL

Final Touches Given Report By Transit Commis. : Shorter Loop Favored

The long awaited report of the City Transit Commission on the subway is to be drawn up today and sent to City Council tomorrow.

The report will state the Transit Commission's conclusions regarding the subway problem. It will be followed later with engineering data to support the contentions.

URGE SHORT LOOP

The shorter and [illegible] Smithfield street subway by the Transit Commission, [illegible] report will [illegible] recommended rather than the [illegible] street loop suggested. Norman F. Brown and Edward Stockton, Jr., according to [illegible] liable sources.

Public [illegible] engineers have been [illegible] estimates of the cost of [illegible] lines and [illegible] the subway route. These have not been completed, but the executives have stated that the [illegible] will be very high.

Only cars using the Smithfield Street Bridge [illegible] about 30 per cent of those entering the downtown triangle will be taken from the streets by the subway, it has been stated.

PLAN SMALL TRACK

Most of the Transit Commission's loop is single track, while the Brown-Stockton plan includes double tracks throughout being used for [illegible] service. The Brown-Stockton plan also proposes to shorten the East End lines at the [illegible] subway.

The question of whether or not surface street cars should be removed from the streets is a matter of law, according to persons in close touch with utility affairs. Several of the bond issues on the Pittsburgh Railways Company's properties are said to be based on the track and roadbed of the downtown lines, and [illegible] by bondholders is possible to prevent the removal, it is said.

CHINESE WINS STUDENT PRIZE

Samuel Kwok Ying Fung, a student in the Duquesne University School of Drama, has been awarded first prize in the play writing contest sponsored by the Red Masquers of the university. The winning play, "From the Spray of Time," will be presented by the Red Masquers Sunday, May 15.

Thursday Mr. Fung will speak in the First United Presbyterian Church, Union avenue, North Side, on "Chinese Mothers and Children." Saturday he will address the faculty wives of Carnegie Institute of Technology, discussing the "Japanese-Chinese Conflict." On April 30 he will speak to the State Federation of Junior Women at the Congress of Women's Clubs and on May 2 he will address the Bridgeville Women's Club.

Constable Shot, 3 Suspects Held

GLENVILLE, April 18.—While Homer Lynch, Calhoun County Constable, is in a serious condition at a hospital from a bullet wound, three men are under arrest, charged with shooting him from ambush. A. J. and John Ward, brothers, and Dennie Walters are alleged to have shot Lynch following a night liquor raid. They live near Grantsville.

Woman Dead, 3 Hurt in Crash

RICHMOND, Ky., April 18.—(AP.)—Mrs. Billie Harliss, 32, of Huntington, W. Va., was fatally injured and three others hurt when an automobile skidded, crashed into another and caught fire near here. Mrs. Harliss died later at a hospital. The others are expected to recover.

Italy Seeks Foreign Tobacco Outlet

ROME — (INS) — Premier Mussolini is making a bid for foreign markets for Italy's tobacco, which is a lucrative government monopoly. He has formed and financed a special permanent committee to create foreign markets and push the exportation of all tobacco products.

The committee is drawn from leaders of the various Fascist syndicates interested in the growing and development of tobacco. One of its tasks is to encourage the cultivation of better tobacco than has so far been produced in Italy.

English Sparrow Protection Urged

NEW YORK — (INS) — The much-maligned English sparrow has at last had its day in court with a friendly judge and jury. Says the magazine, Bird-Lore, official publication of the National Association of Audubon Societies:

"According to Dr. Thomas E. Winecoff, in charge of research for the Pennsylvania Game Commission, this generally unpopular bird has been found to be one of the few which are destroyers of the obnoxious Japanese beetle."

Test Tube Detects Fake Drunkards

SAN FRANCISCO — (INS) — "You can fool some observers, but you can't fool a test tube."

He has a two-way test, he explained. It tells whether a man is drunk or whether he is perfectly sober. It should be used by police departments, he said, when persons are charged with driving while intoxicated or being just plain drunk.

Sixth of Scotland Offered for Sale

EDINBURGH — (AP) — One-sixth of Scotland is for sale, says an Edinburgh real estate firm.

Taxation problems and high death duties have forced Scottish landowners to put their property on the market in unprecedented fashion.

It is estimated that nearly a third of the land in Scotland has already become the property of the state and that $15,000,000 in death duties hang over Scottish estates.

May Lose Eyesight In Schoolboy Prank

INGLEWOOD — Loss of an eye will be the result of a schoolboy prank, specialists determining that the eye of Frazier Benson, Queen street school pupil, will have to be removed because of an injury suffered while he and another boy were playing and hammering on sets for the Inglewood Community Players. The head of a nail flew off and lodged in Frazier's eye. Frazier is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Benson, 207 South Commercial street.

Salmon Output Increases in U. S.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States and Alaska are producing an increasingly large percentage of the entire canned salmon supply of the world, according to information made public by Commissioner Henry O'Malley, of the Commerce Department's Bureau of Fisheries. According to preliminary estimates, the United States and Alaska produced 75 per cent of the world pack in 1931, compared with 58 per cent in 1930.

Airport Rented As Sheep Pasture

OAKDALE, Cal. — (INS) — Oakdale received its first income today from its municipal airport established five years ago. A check for $25 was paid by O. W. Dunn for pasturing 600 sheep on the heavy growth on the field.

At a city council meeting the trustees decided to allow Ben Colombo to harvest feed from the airport, giving the city one-fourth of the crop for rental, but it later changed its mind, believing a cash proposition was more advantageous.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: You probably will observe in the papers that the Florenz Ziegfelds (Billie Burke) are celebrating their 18th anniv, but what Flo wanted you to know is that when they were wedded Charles Frohman predicted that their marriage wouldn't last six months. . . . Remember Irene Schoellkopf Carmen? She used to decorate the front pages a lot with this and that. Well, her next groom is a youth recruited from the hosiery trade. . . . You spoke of a book on the Lindbergh'ana. Wm. Lewis Vitray has done one for the tots in which she says she is making some "startling disclosures" about really happened. . . . Hopwood. . . .

Chester Erskine and a companion were taken in a clip joint for meals and drinks about 10 days ago. . . . I saw an amusing note on the check which one physician sends in a form of shakiness. And the symptoms are anorexia, dyspepsia, tachycardia, exophthalmos and cerebral disorganization. . . . Too much around with ghosts for a while. . . . A [illegible] question on whether or not Jean Harlow had platinum hair is the type that better explained. . . . One of the screen mags will offer a photo of Miss Harlow when she was 16, testifying to the fact that, at that time, her hair was platty. . . . Despite the denials, however, that Ina Claire isn't going to get the Red Headed Woman and that she is en route for the coast to play it, Sally Eilers called. . . . And that's that. . . . The Lunts and Hoey Mercer had a slight argument. . . .

"Well, you can toss a whole corsage of orchids at the 'Grand Hotel' movie. It's a grand picture. . . . And it dissolved the actual reports that Joan Crawford was off with the feminine hormone. . . . Joan does very well, but that Garbo gal is the pure package with opinion divided on the male medals. Some of the reviewers going limp over Beery, but many of the premiere-goers rooting for Lionel Barrymore. . . . Here's a different wrinkle. . . . One of the speakeasies in a fine old residence pays children a dime each to play on the stoop after school and on Saturdays to give the place domestic atmosphere. . . . The editorial columns of the Columbia University paper were blank the day after Reed Harris was expelled because Lamoyne Jones was warned by friends not to run the editorial he had prepared. . . . Harris incidentally was married in August. . . .

One of the [illegible] magazine groups has figured out a way to unload what would be returns. . . . The regular price, let's say, is two-bits. Well, the following month, the dealer may peddle it for a dime less, but no returns. Not bad. . . . They've just found out the source of that spring which hampered the building of the 7th Ave. subway. . . . It is in the Village Barn, costing the place a mere $10,000 for pumps. . . . Do you think that this might be one reason why there is so much unemployment? It's an excerpt from an ad column in the Catskill Mountains sector. They want a bookkeeper, who can also be a waiter, make salads, drive a car, and make himself generally useful. . . . Salary, $10—monthly. . . . Of course, he gets free bed and board. I thought you ought to know. . . . Those of you who think you're overworked can't match the record of Jack Kofoed, who, besides doing his daily column, has a record of five million words for magazines and this year Jack has three books coming out, one about Senator Morrissey, the only prizefighter who served in the Senate. . . .

One of the Times Square hot-

will say after a new headache for the censors. . . . Things aren't tough enough with the professor so this mystery will require a man to offer free drama criticism. . . . Principally, if a guest wants to know anything about a show, this chap will supply capsule comments from the official orchestra, including his own opinion, etc. . . . Evelyn Nesbit walked from St. Louis. . . . One of those who attempts to settle a decision is being plotted against Cab Calloway's band of rhythm, the New York School of Music being behind the plan. . . . The Cotton Club's [illegible] best act, Cora La Redd, being out because she took on too much tonnage. Miss Maxfield's real handle is Evelyn Pigue. . . . Looks very much like Ed Wynn, who begins an engagement on the air will omit his Tuesday night performance as was suspected he would. . . . The cast was asked to consider it and probably will agree thus keeping the show open all summer. . . .

When movie stars are that way why not call it Hollywoodism. . . .

That was Garbo's lawyer with Robert Reud at the premiere indicating once again that Bob would know more about what her plans are than any other [illegible]. . . . I know one attorney who, when he is stopped by a traffic cop, always says, "I'm a proctor in the Admiralty in the United States District Court," which does the trick. . . . Helen Hayes' father is the top-notcher of the animal-voice imitators. . . . Thornton Wilder has a name for divorce lawyers—he calls them the men who put the revolving door in marriage. . . . One of the new gags for the girls if you feel in the mood for that sort of info is a new evening coiffure, the hair being gilded or silvered. . . . It doesn't harm the hair in the least and washes out the next day. . . . Oh, I hear the darndest things. . . . And you? . . . Prinstance: Before Olga Samaroff married and shook Stowkowski—her name was Sally Hickenlooper. . . . The only secret marriage I heard of today is Florence Keady's to Jan Ulrich. He was with Otis Skinner. Happened a year ago in Okla.

The popular song business is away off. I hear because the general public still buys such numbers as "The Blue Danube" and "The Prisoner's Song." . . . Texas phoned. Said that in the King's Chapel graveyard in Boston she read an epitaph that went: "Here Lies Dorothy Kitchener. She was a naughty girl and was buried in a pink dress." . . . Tex said they'd better bury her in flaming red. . . . The Toni Prescott-Val Vesloff duo is blazing. . . . The D. B. Comdens—Natalie Messenger—are cradle-shopping. . . . You can get a divorce in 3 days in Chicago now for $250, which is where the Lester Clarks, Fiancé matters last week. . . . Your Girl Friday: . . . Ces Williams finally mailed

Plays and Players

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"The Silver Domino" will bring life to the old Nixon again tonight when it will be presented by members of the Pitt Cap and Gown Club, the opening performance of a week's engagement. Sponsored tonight by the Civic Club of Allegheny County, it will be sole attraction of the legitimate theater for the week. There will be one matinee Saturday.

* * *

Next week the Alvin bill will be Ethel Waters, that wonderful singer of character songs, in Lew Leslie's Rhapsody in Black, presented by a company of Negro artists. All of the company that was seen here last season will return, but the production has a great deal of new material. The seat sale in the box office is in effect beginning today.

* * *

For the first time in a Pittsburgh movie house, the Stanley will present a complete musical comedy in the new bill that is to open Friday. This will be Schwab & Mandel's "Good News," with Gus Shy, comedian, featured.

* * *

* * *

The Drama Department of Carnegie Tech will do the right thing by the Shakespeare anniversary by presenting "The Merchant of Venice" April 23, 27, 28 and 30 and May 2, 3, 4, the opening date being that which is celebrated as the birthday of the Bard, which some writers have claimed should be observed April 26. The comedy will be staged in the Little Theater of the College of Fine Arts.

Lowe Hands Out Rules For Success

Every motion picture actor seems to have a different set of rules for attaining screen success. Now comes Edmund Lowe, who is appearing opposite Claudette Colbert in "The Misleading Lady," with his own symposium. It is:

Forget the camera; there are other mugs on the set besides yours. Heed the critics, believe it or not, they give valuable pointers. Be natural; a stuffed shirt belongs in a show window. Listen to your director, even though you may think him crazy. Don't gossip; the extras will do that for you. Learn to discount flatters; it is the food of mediocrity. Don't become blase; even the most experienced actor can learn something. Don't attempt to star yourself at the expense of others; it ruins proportion. Give all you have, even to the most unpleasant task, even though the director doesn't see you; your audience will know when you're shirking. Put [illegible] temperament; it's a symptom of mediocrity.

Zita Johann Is Signed For Talk Screen

Zita Johann, Hungarian star of the Broadway stage, joins Constance Bennett, Ann Harding and the others in Radio Pictures through contracts just signed. Miss Johann is scheduled to arrive in Hollywood May 2. The actress, although born in Tamesvar, Hungary, has spent the majority of her life in the United States. Her professional career began at the age of 15. She has played leads in various classical plays, among them, He Who Gets Slapped and Peer Gynt. Her first important Broadway role was in Marbinal. Other of her outstanding Broadway roles were Sonia in Uncle Vanya and Eve in Philip Barry's Tomorrow and Tomorrow.

Mr. Bannister Trains For Comeback

From Reno come reports that Lowell Bannister is undergoing a strenuous training campaign. He has taken the old quarters of Jack Dempsey in Reno and retained the services of Tillie Kid-Herman, Dempsey's old trainer. He is on the Maverty Ranch five miles from Reno. He rides horseback every morning. Then he goes out for his roadwork of [illegible] miles a day on foot, skipping and shadow boxing as he runs with Kid Herman. In the training quarters he does more shadow boxing and punches the bag.

Star Quakes At Play's Debut

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, April 18.

They all quail, even the Broadway veterans, before that devastating moment when the curtain lifts to disclose all Hollywood out there in front, seated in judgment.

It was no surprise to me then to hear Colleen Moore confess that she was panicky at the premiere of her new play, "Church Mouse," on Sunday night. Colleen and her husband, Al Scott, have taken up quarters on the top floor of a Beverly Hills apartment hotel.

Colleen Moore

Talking with me, Colleen confided her fears. "The only thing that saved me," she said, "was the fact that it didn't matter if I fell right flat when I made my entrance. At the start of the play, I'm a scared young girl applying for a secretary's job. I'm called on to be nervous for a whole act, and I'm here to tell you my performance was plenty realistic.

"In spite of everything, though, I'm enthusiastic about the stage. Several New York producers have made me offers, and if they can find a good play, I'll probably have a try at Broadway next winter."

Colleen likes her current role very much. It allows her to start off with the kind of characterization she did on the screen, bangs and all, and later to undergo a transformation into a sophisticated young woman.

AND SO TO GOSSIP

Florenz Ziegfeld has kept the wires burning lately in an effort to sign Irene Dunne for his Follies. R-K-O figures it would keep her off the screen too long and has spurred the deal. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, standing diametrically in the other point of the R-K-O studio. Here's the latest gadgets for contract: in the palm of your hand and stay [illegible] friends with. . . . Margaret Perry, M. G. M.'s new find, looks sets much like [illegible] Especially with her hair fluffed up. . . . Talked to Florence Marsh today. She has given up her New York trip so as to finish two pictures for M. G. M. After that, she'll do the one for Mary Pickford. Out on the Harold Lloyd set they were entertaining Gen. Viscount Byng of Vimy Ridge. An extra man came up and asked to meet him. The General said: "Haven't I seen you somewhere before?" He had. And at Vimy Ridge. In those days the extra man was Capt. C. W. Crumplin of the Royal Field Artillery. Jack Gilbert is daffy over carts. He has 46 varieties in his rock garden.

Irene Dunne

Fredric March in Dual Role in Enright

Fredric March is starred in "Strangers In Love," which opened Saturday in the Enright. He starts out in the dual role of twin brothers and then, when one of them has heart failure, goes on in a solo performance. The story has to do with one brother stepping into his dead brother's shoes and masquerading as something he isn't. Kay Francis is in the cast.

Beauty

Marian Marsh will be seen in "The Beauty and the Boss" on the Enright screen Wednesday.

'Hay Fever' Postponed

"Hay Fever" will not be presented in the Alvin tonight—or any time this week. Instead, it is expected to come to that theater some time in May. The change in plans is due to the illness of the star, Constance Collier, whose indisposition caused a cancellation of the final four days of the Boston engagement last week.

At first it was announced that the play would open as booked with Laurette Taylor in place of Miss Collier. Then it was stated that the engagement would not open until Thursday. Now it is off for a couple of weeks at least.

"Hay Fever" had been promised as the final play in the Professional Players subscription series.

Children's Playhouse Scores Hit Again

Happy laughter rewarded the efforts of those concerned with the production of Hackett-Pagarty House at the Nixon Theater Saturday morning. This fanciful juvenile classic in the spirit of "Alice in Wonderland" was staged by Theodore Viehman with colorful settings and costumes. Ruth Aston as Queen Crosspatch and Matilda Bodycombe as Cynthia were particularly appreciated, while Edward Shaughency as Peter Piper and Henrietta Siskin as Kilmanskegg also became favorites of the audience.

Richard Dix as Stunt Flier in Sheridan

Richard Dix heads the cast of "The Lost Squadron," picture which came into the Sheridan Square Saturday. This is a drama that glorifies Hollywood's "stunt" aviators. Three comrades of war days land in the movies and help put the thrills in the air melodramas. Eric von Stroheim is in the film in the role of a relentless film director. Robert Armstrong and Joel McCrea also are in the cast.

Harris Screen Offers 'The Big Shot'

"The Big Shot," starring Eddie Quillan, opened a week's engagement in the Harris Saturday. It's the story of a smalltown boy who hopes to win his fame and fortune with a puncture-proof automobile tire. The cast includes Maureen O'Sullivan, Mary Nolan, Rosco Ates and Belle Bennett. Another feature-length film in the Harris is "Behind Stone Walls," a murder mystery. Priscilla Dean and Eddie Nugent are in the cast.

Thirty-three Children In Picture Cast

MUSIC

Addison Jones
Y. M. & W. H. A.

PROGRAM

16 Variations C minor ..... Beethoven
Intermezzo C major ..... Brahms
Sonata B minor ..... Chopin
Mazurka C sharp minor ..... Chopin
Etude B minor ..... Chopin
Murmure du Vent ..... Sauer
Mouvement Perpetuel ..... Poulenc
Capriccio F minor ..... Dohnanyi
Valse Oubliee ..... Liszt
Fantasia Quasi Sonata ..... Liszt

The Young Men and Women's Hebrew Association presented Addison Jones in a very attractive piano recital in the Kaufmann Auditorium last night before an appreciative audience. It was a good program for Sunday night, not overladen with classics and full of tunes that are liked by all.

Mr. Lissfelt

It seems to me that it is a grave mistake to mutilate the Beethoven Variations by giving but half of the set of 32. These variations follow in mood and development so closely that the composition loses all its force of pattern and musical values by the cut.

The more we hear of Poulenc and Dohnanyi, the more Liszt falls far into the background; the two examples of his rambling fingers and thoughts on last night's program give modern writers full rights for rebellion against these prolix pages of Liszt.

Jones displays immediately his sincere purpose and his desire to paint his music in large strokes and with brilliant colors. To attain this he is seriously hampered by bound muscles which prevent clarity in finger action and restrain him from obtaining a tone which his well built shoulders should make. He can, however, sing a beautiful melody as in the largo of the Chopin or in the mazurka.

In larger works he must seek to model his patterns more deftly, for there are frequently masses of tone without seeming plan for phrase or nuance. He comes into his feeling for Liszt right naturally, for his master, Sauer, was one of the abbe's pupils and doubtless showed him many tricks which the everlasting Emil had at first hand.

To enthusiastic applause Jones responded with a Brahms waltz and an octave study of Sauer.

BITS OF LIFE

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

IN THIS AMAZING town of ours there's a certain speakeasy owner who is a pal to all the boys. You know the type. He's always anxious to please and always happy to oblige. If you need a remedy of any type, he's the possessor of the only cure. If you need a suit for yourself or a dress for your wife, he can send you to spots where you can get the most for your money. Like the celebrated character in Gus Van's song, he can get it for you wholesale.

The other night, as he stood at the bar, a newspaperman idly stated that he intended to buy a new suit the following day. Perhaps I should leave out the "idly," because when a reporter buys a new suit, that's no idle statement. At any rate, the proprietor leaped forward.

"Bob," he cried, "did I hear you say that you were going to buy yourself a new suit of clothes?"

The reporter nodded.

The boss smiled. He reached into a vest pocket and drew out a card.

"Your troubles are over," he chirped. "Take this card and go over there the first thing in the morning. It's the address of my old friend, Moscowitz. He's the best clothing merchant in town and he'll slice the price in half the minute he knows that I sent you."

With that build-up the reporter very naturally followed directions. The following morning found him up bright and early—for a reporter—and talking to Mr. Moscowitz in the front of the latter's store. He had picked out what he considered a fine suit.

"I like this one, Mr. Moscowitz," he said. "What's the price?"

The clothing man wagged his dome.

"You've made a wonderful choice, my friend," he replied. "That's one of the best garments in stock. And it certainly looks marvelous on you. The price is $38.50."

The newspaperman fished out the card that had been given to him in the speakeasy. He handed it over with a flourish.

"Mr. Moscowitz," he stated, "this is how I happened to come to you. That's the man who sent me to you."

The clothier read the name and promptly went into a form of hysterics.

"Don't tell me that Charlie Smith sent you!" he ejaculated. "Well, well, well! It's a small world after all. Do you know, sir, that Charlie's one of the best pals I ever had? Well, he certainly is.

"Do you know how long I've known Charlie? Well, it must be all of 15 or 20 years.

"I haven't seen Charlie in a long time. We'll have to get together one of these nights. So he sent you, did he? Then you know him, and I don't have to tell you what a great guy he is."

The reporter nodded in complete assent.

"Yes, sir," he said, "he sure is a swell guy." He hesitated for a moment. Then he coughed. "And now, Mr. Moscowitz," he went on, "how much did you say this suit was?"

"Thirty-eight dollars and fifty cents," replied Mr. Moscowitz . . .

* * *

I DON'T KNOW whether you are interested in stories of prison escapes. But if you are, here's one of the best that has ever come to my attention. This episode took place in Dannemora a few years back.

One of the members of the prison orchestra—a former musician who was facing some 20 years in jail—made up his mind to attempt an escape. He played the bass viol, so the story goes, and it was upon that instrument that he planned his entire scheme for freedom. The only man he took into his confidence was his pal in a nearby cell. And they decided to make the break together.

It was a simple matter for the musician to fashion the proper tool with which to begin his operations. His cell being on the ground floor, he went to work on a block that looked as though it might be pried loose.

He worked, of course, during the night. With a dummy in his bed, he cut just a little deeper into the ground each night. His idea, then, was obvious. He was going to slave until he had constructed an underground tunnel that would enable him to come up outside of the jail.

His bass viol came into play when he carted out the earth that he scooped from his tunnel.

When the tunnel was sufficiently large, the musician placed his pal in the spot. He was missed shortly after, of course, and the prison took it for granted that he had made good his escape. Meanwhile, he was living in the hole and working through the day.

At night, the two men would alternate. The musician would bring his pal food and replace him in the hole. The other man would crawl into the musician's cot and go to sleep.

A trifle more than seven months later the tunnel was completed. In the dead of night both men arose from the ground outside the prison and raced away. They had accomplished the impossible.

Just 24 hours after, cold and hungry, the two men were captured and returned to Dannemora. Each prisoner immediately had 14 additional years tacked on his sentence. And all for the sake of a day's freedom!

Snipers' Bullets Hit Two Women, Child; Peril Girls

RELIEF DELAYED; COMMISSIONERS FAIL TO MEET

THREE INJURED BY STRAY BULLETS

Two on Houseboat, Child Hit; Girls Studying in Home Periled by Shot

Two women and a child were in hospitals today and two other girls narrowly escaped injury, due to stray bullets fired yesterday.

Mrs. Frances Walters, 53, and her daughter, Mrs. Nancy Ross, 27, of 8 Federal street, both of whom were shot while walking on the Allegheny River bank near a houseboat, were in Allegheny General Hospital today. Their condition was not serious.

Police said they were wounded by stray bullets fired during a gun battle between Andrew Huber, 53, who lived on a houseboat, and Detective Charles Snyder, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad police. Huber was held over in North Side Police Court today. Willis Hill, no home, arrested with him, was discharged.

Dorothy Beckett, 12, niece of Fire Chief Fred Beckett, of 158 Hartman lane, was in Pittsburgh Hospital today with a bullet wound in the right shoulder, received, police said, when she was struck by a bullet fired by one of two boys who were playing "cowboys" in a field owned by the East Liberty Rod and Gun Club, near her home.

Police, after confiscating guns from two boys, said the shooting was accidental.

Guard Kidnaped Man From Second Threat

A new threat to Walter Blair, of 317 Twenty-sixth street, McKeesport, released with a warning after being kidnaped near his home last week, caused a police guard to be posted over his home today. Blair told police an unidentified visitor threatened him last night.

Blair said the man knocked at his door and demanded entrance. Blair reached for a revolver, confronted the intruder and asked what he wanted. Blair said he replied:

"I came here to tell you not to stay at home tonight, as it may not be good for you and your family."

The man left, Blair said, and he and his wife and four small children prepared to leave. As he drove away, he related, he was followed for several blocks by a man whom he recognized. Blair appealed to McKeesport police. Police Chief John Whalen said he would be given protection.

2 KILLED, 4 HURT IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Woman Hurled to Death In Safety Island Crash; Trolley Collision Fatal

Mrs. Margaret Reiners, 35, of 921 O'Brien street, Millvale, was dead today of injuries received yesterday when she was hurled from an automobile driven by her husband, Charles, as it struck the bars of a safety zone at West Liberty and Capitol avenues.

An adopted daughter, Elizabeth Kim, 9, was injured in the crash, police said.

James Meneghini, 35, of Moon Run, was killed when his auto crashed into an Island avenue street car at West Carson street and the Coliss tunnel, according to a police report.

Meneghini's brother, William, and Patrick Cirilla, of Moon Run, were injured about the head in the crash and were taken to South Side Hospital.

Peter Isles, 58, of 7007 McClure avenue, Swissvale, was in Homestead Hospital today with serious injuries received when his automobile collided with another machine, the driver of which did not stop, in the River road near the Duquesne Junction. Isles' machine was hurled against a truck, police said.

Patrolman Attacked, Five Suspects Held

Patrolman John Roach, of Central Police Station, was in Mercy Hospital today suffering slight injuries said to have been inflicted by five men who were arrested at 600 Chianti street, following a disturbance that occurred when the officer went to investigate the firing of several pistol shots, according to an East End police report.

Roach, who lives at 708 Morrow street, said he went to the Chianti street address after hearing several shots. Frank Vento and his brother, Ralph, both of 600 Chianti street; Jack Sherdell, of 204 South Euclid avenue; John Reese, of Wylie avenue and John Piccolino, of 6412 Apple avenue, were arrested. Police said the men had been drinking. A small amount of moonshine was confiscated.

Anniversary Mass Celebrated Here

In observance of the one hundred and seventy-eighth anniversary of the first mass celebrated in Pittsburgh, the Rt. Rev. Alfred Koch, O. S. B. archabbot of St. Vincent Archabbey, Latrobe, said mass yesterday morning in St. Mary of Mercy Church, Third avenue and Ferry street. He was assisted by the Rev. Norbert Ruprecht, of St. Vincent College.

The mass and a breakfast in the Keystone Club, which followed, were sponsored by the Fort Pitt General Assembly, Knights of Columbus. The first mass was celebrated by the Rev. Denys Baron, French chaplain, at Fort Duquesne.

Junior League Shows Paintings by Simboli

RAYMOND SIMBOLI — DONALD SIMBOLI, 2

DAD PAINTS . . . SO SONNY, HIGH-CHAIRED, DOES LIKEWISE

Diversity Feature Of Collection On Display

The Junior League today presents an exhibition of paintings by Raymond Simboli, which will be on public view at the league's galleries in the Clark Building through April 30.

Miss Redd

Mr. Simboli's paintings during the past decade have consistently been among those in the ascendant at the Associated Artists' annuals. His earlier paintings were figure subjects almost exclusively. He has painted his exotic wife, his spiritual mother, his handsome father, his candid children, his intelligent brothers, and his own keen-looking self. He does these most intimate portraits with a detachment free of all sentimentality.

Pictorial experiences accentuating form are rare with him. Although he has always painted still life with its well-nigh irresistible temptation to describe objects from a prearranged reduction of forms to formula, Simboli is resolute in maintaining the freshness of his vision.

He never forces forms into dramatically pictorial puppets to surprise the eye. He contents himself with beauty distilled from realism. Note his study of a rose-violet petunia twining upward from an earthen pot which he has developed into ocular rhythms without technical affectation.

Of late, Simboli has explored the possibilities of his immediate environment. His dexterous draughtsmanship stands him in good stead in the picture of the complicated movements of a blast furnace. His street in East Pittsburgh with the narrow passage-way bridged across from house to house, is another token of Simboli's probable future as the painter of Pittsburgh we have long awaited.

In Simboli's enthusiasm for the life about him, he seizes upon form for one canvas, color for another, and perhaps design for a third. He never repeats himself even in subjects from similar sources. Simboli has the courage of diversity in a day that best rewards those who limit themselves only to be unique and novel in art.

TALBOT MONEY HERE, AWAITS DIVISION

Mansfield Absent, $161,153 Ready for Distribution; Leaders Push Family Drive

Although there is $161,153 in state funds available for direct relief here today, the money probably will not be distributed until next week, as the County Commissioners must approve division of the money. With Commissioner C. C. McGovern in the Sewickley Hospital and Commissioner W. D. Mansfield out of the city, no meeting has been scheduled until a week from tomorrow.

The check for $161,153, the first installment of the county's portion of the $10,000,000 available under provisions of the Talbot bill, is now in the office of County Treasurer Robert S. Cain, who is awaiting orders from the Commissioners as to dividing the money between the County Poor Board and the City Welfare Department. The division must also have the approval of Common Pleas Court.

DRIVE SUCCESS VITAL

It was said at the Commissioners' office today that there is a possibility of Commissioner Mansfield returning near the end of the week and that he might meet with Commissioner C. M. Barr to divide the money. It is expected that the Poor Board and the city Welfare Department will turn the money over to the Allegheny County Emergency Association for distribution.

Warning that the Family-Help-Family relief campaign must succeed and that Allegheny County's share of the funds provided by the Talbot bill can only slightly help families near destitution was voiced by leaders of the Emergency Association.

GIVES ONLY SLIGHT RELIEF

A. F. Braun, chairman of the board of the Emergency Association, said:

"The Talbot bill gives Allegheny County about $1,700,000 which is to be distributed among unemployed at the rate of $8 per family. The amount per family has gone down with the increase in the number of unemployed. So far as the Talbot bill goes, that is all these families will get. When the $8 is spent, they will be through."

Workers in the Family-Help-Family relief drive reported subscriptions to rate for 460 additional families when they met for the daily luncheon in the William Penn Hotel.

These additions raise the number of families underwritten so far to 2,875, exactly 25,125 less than the number of families estimated by the workers as being in immediate need of aid.

Candidate Proposes Curb on Fortunes

Attorney Cyrus A. Davis, of Glassport, World War veteran and candidate for the Legislature from the Tenth District, has declared in favor of laws that will enable the nation to redistribute vast fortunes now held by a few. He proposes a system of taxation that would limit private fortunes to about $200,000. He said:

"Capitalists have had the right, in effect, to conscript poor men for war service. It's about time that the public should have the right to confiscate the wealth they have defended and helped to build."

THEFT SUSPECT SHOT TO DEATH

Woods Run police today believed that a number of mystery robberies, and the slugging of a woman nearly two years ago, had been cleared as a result of the shooting to death of Edward Jones, 31, of 2104½ Charles street, as, police said, he fled from the home of Mrs. Mabel Irwin, 30 Clifton Park, Woods Run, early yesterday.

Jones was felled by a fusilade of bullets fired by a squad of police lead by Lieut. Robert Buel, after a chase of more than half a mile.

Loot estimated at more than $1,500 was recovered from Jones' home, police said. Police also said they recovered an auger and a number of skeleton keys which they said, the burglar suspect used in entering the looted homes.

A number of Woods Run residents whose homes have been robbed during the past six weeks have been called to the police station to identify the loot which police said they recovered.

A Pittsburgh newspaper giving an account of the slugging of a North Side woman, in April, 1930, was found in one of Jones' bags. The newspaer account was marked by pencil. Jones was a Negro.

INDUSTRY HERE GIVES DISPLAY

Local industry went on parade today with opening of the Pittsburgh Skilled Workmen's Exhibition in Gimbel's store, actual demonstrations in the manufacturing of many products being offered as a stimulant to buying our own merchandise to create work for our neighbors.

Variety is the keynote in exhibitions. In the main aisle of the ground floor will be found girls making umbrellas, others on textile products, while another demonstrates part of the operations necessary in the manufacturing of hinge and lock hardware. The hand-skill of hammering designs into metal craft finds interest. Other exhibits of the floor include sampling of foodstuffs.

More exhibits are found on each of the upper floors. Garden fixture, broom and brush making and glass designing are only a few of the skilled performances given to the shopper. Educational features are to be found in glass and paint, pottery and porcelain and other displays.

Heiress Refuses To Quit Dancing In Chorus

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—(AP)—Elva McGuinness, 19, continued dancing as a chorus girl in a cafe today, despite notification that she had just inherited $75,000.

Milton Golden, her attorney, announced the inheritance was from the estate of the dancer's grandfather, James J. McGuinness, who died recently in Dublin, Ireland. Miss McGuinness said:

"The income from the trust fund will make it easier for me to continue my career as a dancer. That's all it means to me. I'll keep right on working."

Woman Gives Bail As Fortune Teller

Mrs. W. C. Martz, of 106 East Ohio street, recently held for court by Magistrate Leo Rothenberg in Central station, after waiving hearing on a charge of fortune telling, today pointed out that she had not been jailed, but merely held until she had provided bond.

WOMEN'S RALLY TO AID RELIEF

Hundreds of women from all parts of the city are epected to gather tomorrow afternoon at an East End rally of the Family-Help-Family campaign in Carnegie Music Hall, Oakland.

The Rev. Dr. Robert MacGowan, of the Bellefield Presbyterian Church, will deliver the keynote address. Earl Mitchell, organist, will present a special program. The meeting has been arranged by Mrs. Taylor Allderdice, vice chairman under Mrs. F. C. Irish, and leader in the East End area.

Director Edward G. Lang, of the County Department of Public Works, will send palms and other plants for stage decorations. Women of the Fourth to the Fifteenth Wards, inclusive, have been especially urged to attend the meeting. Junior League girls will serve as ushers.

Others who will participate in the program will include Mrs. C. F. Irish, in charge of all women's groups, and Mrs. Saul Lavine, city chairman.

Many Posters Made In School Contest

More than 5,000 posters have been submitted by Allegheny County school children in connection with "Be Kind to Animals" week, observed under auspices of the Western Pennsylvania Humane Society and Animal Rescue League.

W. F. H. Wentzel, secretary of the humane society, announced today judges will select the best posters in the children's department of Carnegie Library, Schenley Park, Thursday. Medals will be given as first, second and third prizes while 200 honor awards will also be given.

Stricken Burgess Dies in Turtle Creek

Stricken with acute indigestion en route to a borough political meeting, George J. Donaldson, 49, Burgess of Turtle Creek for the last 15 years and a Republican candidate for the Legislature from the Tenth District, died suddenly at his home, 835 Maple avenue, Turtle Creek, last night.

Burgess Donaldson was a plumbing contractor. He is survived by his widow, Florence Donaldson, and two sons, Robert and George Donaldson, Jr.

Man Freed From Pen, Hit by Auto, Dies

Sam Dangilsco, no home, died in the Suburban Hospital at Bellevue, early today of a fractured skull suffered, police said, when he stumbled into the side of an automobile driven by D. Boul, 18, of 272 Princeton avenue, West View, at Yale and Center avenues, West View, last night. Morgue officials said Dangilsco had been released from Western Penitentiary last week.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

SANTA MONICA, Cal., April 18.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

Mr. Hoover wants to put in the "stagger system." That don't sound like a dry. He says we can save $80,000,000 a year by "staggering." We have always thought "staggering" was a shame, but now it's a blessing. But what he means by the "stagger" is you "stagger" to work today, then "stagger" home and lay off tomorrow, and I "stagger" over and work in your place that day, then you "stagger" back the next day. The man who is employing you don't know just who is going to "stagger" in to work for him on any given day. But it gives more people days to work, more peop! days to "stagger" so the plan is well worth "staggering" into.

Will Rogers

Yours, "Staggeringly,"

WILL.

Political Game Is No Longer Follow the Leader

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

"I cannot annoy the opposition so I swear to annoy my friends. If a brother crab starts to crawl out of the basket I'll claw him back again.

"I am with my country right or wrong. And I hope it's mutual.

"The triple-cross is what wins the game of tick-tack-toe. I swear to use it at every opportunity.

"I know I made some promises when I ran for office. But I've got my breath back now.

"And, finally, I'm for the good of the party as long as it does me some good."

FROM Xanthi and Cavalla . . . Smyrna and Samsoun . . . the finest Turkish tobaccos travel 4,000 miles to add flavor and fragrance to CHESTERFIELD.

4000 miles for better taste

TURKISH tobacco is strung leaf-by-leaf and hung in long strands to dry and cure in the sun. In every important tobacco-growing center of Turkey, CHESTERFIELD has its own tobacco buyers.

CIGARETTE smokers owe a lot to Turkish tobacco, for it was cigarettes made out of Turkish tobacco that first became the vogue in this country.

Then it was found that a blend of Turkish and Domestic tobaccos was better than either kind of tobacco straight. It takes just the right amount of the right kind of Turkish tobacco to give a cigarette better taste. For Turkish tobacco is to cigarettes what seasoning is to food—the spice—the sauce. You want enough but not too much.

There is just enough Turkish in CHESTERFIELDS to give them a better flavor, a more pleasing aroma; to make them taste better.

Turkish tobacco must pay an import duty of 35c a pound; but cost doesn't count when it comes to making CHESTERFIELD the best cigarette that science and money can produce.

Don't Keep Drifting in an Indefinite Engagement

Should Marion keep on letting the big boy hang around, hoping that some day—

He's been toasting his shins in front of the family radiator for seven years now, for three of which they've been engaged; but the little home of Marion's dreams seems no nearer now than it did the night she whispered "Yes"—and she is beginning to wonder—

Will it ever come? Or is she just wasting her life waiting?

"Dear Miss Martin:

"This problem may sound very silly to you, but nevertheless it is terribly important to me, so I am hoping you will help me.

I have been going with a young man for the past seven years. For three years we've been engaged. But our marriage seems still entirely undecided. He claims he must take care of his mother until she is better fixed financially. I've never said anything about that, of course, as I believe that his mother should be taken care of, if she needs it.

DRIFTING AIMLESSLY

"But I have even offered to continue working myself, and economize all I could, so we could marry, and still give her what he gives her now. Yet he won't settle anything. We seem to be just drifting aimlessly.

"Well, that's the first part of my problem. Here's the rest. The other night he, I and a girl friend of mine who is married and the mother of two adorable children but not living with her husband, were in a drugstore. I was telephoning. After I finished we took her home. When we left her he told me he didn't want me to go with her, as he didn't think she was the right sort of company, etc.

"Then the next day she told me that while I was in the phone booth liquor was mentioned, and she spoke of knowing there was a speakeasy in the neighborhood—and that my darling suggested they get a bottle after taking the War Department (meaning me) home. She said she told him she wouldn't think of doing anything like that.

GETTING DISGUSTED

"Now don't think I am a wet blanket. I'm not. I take a drink with him occasionally, if he wishes, and why he should have said that to her I don't know.

"Naturally I asked him about it. At first he wouldn't say anything then it all came out. And what do you think the excuse was? 'I was only kidding,' and 'Did she think' I really meant that? 'I wouldn't go out with her. She brought it up. Her life is broken up, and now she wants to break up ours,' etc.

"Then he said he thought that she was 'no friend' to tell me, that if some one saw me out and told him, he wouldn't consider that person a friend.

"But I think just the opposite. I think she proved her friendship. What do you think?

"And should I continue this drifting? Or should I cut loose? Honestly, I am getting disgusted. What shall I do? MARION."

What should you do?

Well, first off, I'd cut out listening to tale bearers. Paying attention to folks like that is the best way on earth to wreck your own life and the lives of everyone around you. If you do it, you'll just naturally break yourself up with this man, whether he is ready to marry you or not. So cut it out. This affair is between you and him and nobody else.

MUST BE FRANK

And now how about the drifting? Well, frankly, I wouldn't keep that up. I'd put it up to him, square, to fish or cut bait. You have been fair with him. You have offered to do your part to see that his dependent mother doesn't suffer. So the next time you talk about it tell him that you can't stand going on in this uncertain way any longer, that you'll have to know exactly what he intends to do, and when, or you'll have to break with him.

The chances are that he has gotten so comfortably used to having you around, with no particular cost to himself, that he's satisfied with things as they are, and what he needs is a little jolt.

But maybe you'll lose him by your frankness?

Yes, maybe you will. But if you can't be frank with him about such a mutually vital problem, isn't it time you knew it?

Fay King Praises Economical Wife Who Shuns Glamour of Society

THERE HAD BEEN TIMES HE WISHED SHE'D DOLL UP MORE
I'M MIGHTY LUCKY TO HAVE A WONDERFUL LITTLE WIFE LIKE YOU
SHE LIKED TO DO HER OWN COOKING AND HOUSE WORK
FAY KING

By FAY KING

He knew he made an excellent choice in a wife when he married her.

She was attractive, amiable and sensible.

But later he sometimes wished she'd take more interest in clothes and social affairs. She preferred to be busy in her own home, and economical and conservative in her dress.

Things were coming his way and he figured she could help him a lot more if she mingled socially like some of the other fellows' wives did.

But when conditions suddenly changed and things weren't so good he found that some of those "smart" wives were not so amiable about necessary economies.

For his wife it meant only continuing in the wise way she had always preferred.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Why Some Children Grow Too Slowly, or Too Fast

In the growth of a child there will be found a definite relationship between the height and weight.

Dr. Copeland

At birth the average baby measures between 19 and 20½ inches. During the first year the gain is about 8 inches, and during the second year from 3 to 5 inches.

In spring and summer months the growth is usually more rapid than in winter months. Weak and premature babies are apt to grow in height while the gain in weight is small and may remain stationary.

The variations in development differ considerably within normal limits. A child below standard requirements from effects of ill health, improper diet or some constitutional disease under proper conditions may grow into a robust person.

Dwarfish persons may be perfect in physical structure with organs well formed but small, but another form of failure to attain proper growth is called infantilism. In this the individual is childish both in appearance and in mentality. Some such cases have their origin in constitutional diseases, like tuberculosis, while in others there appears to be a disturbance of the ductless glands the endocrine glands.

One of these, the thyroid gland, is of great importance in normal growth. If there is marked failure in its function the result is a form of mental defect known as cretinism. Cretins are short for their age, childish in mentality and appearance, the head and abdomen are large, the face is pale and the skin is thick and rubbery. All the mental reactions are sluggish and the physical movements are slow.

Where the thyroid disturbance is slight, usually there is great improvement under the administration of the gland extracts obtained from animals. Not infrequently, in deed, an approximate cure is effected.

Other types of failure in glandular action have been recognized and treated with varying success, but in all cases hygienic and dietetic supervision is required.

In contrast to the small, under-developed child is the large, over-sized and overweight type. Occasionally this condition may have its origin in overfeeding and lack of exercise, but this cause is comparatively infrequent. Most cases have been proved to be due to some disturbance of function in the endocrine glands.

This type of child is tall and has the appearance of an adult. In boys the voice is sometimes husky and deep, and in certain cases the muscles are over-developed. The degree of intelligence does not correspond to the size of the body, but rather to the age of the child.

Some disturbance of the secretion of the pituitary glands is at fault in such cases. These glands are found at the base of the brain. Too great a secretion from the anterior portion of the gland causes these peculiar changes in the muscles and bones.

In certain cases skillful administration of certain extracts from the endocrines of animals has resulted in arresting the progress of the disease. Your doctor will tell you about this.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

Our great-grandmothers believed in honey as a means of keeping the complexion fresh and smooth. Spread it over the face at night, rub well down over the neck. Thinned a bit with lemon juice it acts as a bleach. Or oatmeal can be added and a face pack compounded.

Black frocks make the complexion look fair, white frocks make it appear darker. More and brighter makeup can be used when the dark robe is donned than when one trails about in snowy draperies. Pastel shades require delicate coloring of the skin, and a slick trick is to use eyeshadows the color of the frock. Grey calls for flesh-colored powder. Ivory isn't strong enough to carry on when gray is worn.

Rope-jumping is a killjoy to adipose tissue. Get a jumping rope at the hardware or toy store. Do 50 jumps night and morning, and observe how upper arms slenderize themselves, how the protruding tummy goes into retirement, how the hip-shelves disappear, and thick calves diminish. If there is fatigue, puffing, snorting and groaning don't attempt the 50 the first day. Start with 20 and increase gradually.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Introductions

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. When one wishes to present a man friend to a relative ... for example to an aunt ... should one say, "Aunt Mary, may I introduce Mr. Brown?" or "Mrs. Smith may I introduce Mr. Brown?"

2. In introducing a man friend to another man, whose name should be mentioned first?

3. When introducing a man to a man and his wife, should the lady be introduced first?

D. M. C.

1. The first form is correct.

2. It makes no difference, mention either name first.

3. Yes. First introduce the man to the wife, and then to the husband.

The Wedding Ring

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. Won't you come to my rescue again and tell me to whom should the young lady (who is traveling alone) give the address to which she wishes to be driven. To the doorman, who calls her cab, or directly to the cabman?

2. Recently I read of a young lady having purchased a wedding ring for her wedding which was to take place shortly. How would you explain this? I never knew that the bride-to-be bought the ring.

3. And by the way, who pays for the bridal bouquet?

S. S.

1. She should give the address to the doorman, who relays it to the driver. The doorman is there to give just this sort of service.

2. This bride-to-be certainly did take matters into her own hands. It is the groom who buys the bride's wedding ring, and although it is customary nowadays for her to go with the groom as he buys the engagement ring and the wedding ring or at least plans them, she should not, of course, have anything to do with the actual purchase. I guess that she must have been a little over-anxious—don't you? It's an unwise way to begin—to take over the groom's responsibilities.

3. The groom buys the bridal bouquet.

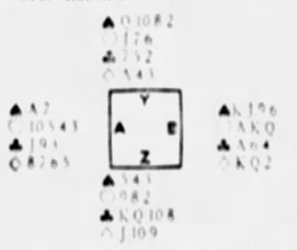
OFFICIAL SYSTEM As Adopted by Leading Authorities

By E. V. SHEPARD

Good Bidding

An invaluable asset to any pair is ability to accurately estimate their probable winning tricks. Nearly all players even our best tournament players and writers, are woefully behind the times on simple and precise methods of valuing holdings. The following hand shows how accurately two experts can value holdings.



It came B's turn to bid after three passes. He counted his probable tricks at no-trumps as follows: Spades, K 2 points, J 1 point, total 3 points; hearts, 6 points for three certain tricks, making 9 points; clubs, Ace 3 points or 12 points total; diamonds, K 2 points, Q 1 point, making a total of 15 points for the honors held. Dividing this by 2 gives 7½ probable tricks. Such great strength in four guarded suits with a suit division of 4-3-3-3, calls for an opening bid of 2-No Trumps, and B made that bid.

An average deal gives the four players a total of only 7½ quick tricks. B held 4½ quick tricks, leaving only three quick tricks to be divided between the three other players. As it happened, Z held one quick trick in clubs, A had one in spades, and Y held one in diamonds. The point count of A's hand (using the "short-cut method," where A counts 3, K is 2, and either Q, J or 10, when fully guarded count 1 point each) was Ace of spades 3, 10 of hearts 1, and J of clubs 1, or a total of 5 points, equalling 2½ probable tricks. This added to the 7½ probable tricks held by the declarer gave them jointly 10 probable tricks, which is just what they won. Of course, A ended contracting with 3-No Trumps.

The opening lead was Z's 8 of club; dummy's 9 won the trick. Three leads of hearts caused all opposing cards of that suit to drop, leaving a long heart in dummy. The fifth trick was won by A's Ace of spades, and the sixth by his long heart. Dummy's last spade was led, Y played the 8 and B's 9 won the trick.

The declarer decided to lay down his K of diamonds to insure winning one trick in that suit. Y won with his Ace, and returned a club. B won the trick with his Ace, giving him his Ace, giving him his eighth trick, his adversaries had thus far won only a single trick. Of course B hoped to be sufficiently fortunate to find spades would drop upon his lead of the K, but the suit was not led. All B could then do was to win the tenth trick with his Q of diamonds, surrendering the last two tricks to Y-Z, but he had fulfilled his game contract, with one trick over.

Household Hints

Brasswork will not tarnish in wet weather if a thin film of salad oil is smeared over it after polishing.

A net shopping bag may be hung in the cellarway and hold pieces of wrapping paper and paper bags. Then the usual hunt and rummaging are avoided, as one can see through the mesh of the bag and find what one wants immediately.

How about the utensils for the summer canning and preserving? The first green things of spring are here and all articles should be in readiness when the fruits and vegetables are at the right price. There are sales about this time that include all necessary preserving utensils. Take an inventory.

the hot MUSTARD bath

Play safe—and at the same time get results with the treatment that the best modern doctors approve—the hot mustard bath.

Before retiring, fill your tub with hot water. Put four heaping tablespoons of Colman's Mustard into a cup with a little cold water and blend until it forms a thin paste. Pour this into your tub, mix well, hop in and lie in the warm water for ten to fifteen minutes. Dry gently on a soft towel, get into bed and cover up.

The mustard will not burn. You feel it only as a gentle warmth.

You'll wake up in the morning with every cold symptom gone. That is, if you've taken the cold in time. But even advanced colds are helped by a mustard bath.

Always keep Colman's in your bathroom and your kitchen, because only in Colman's do you find such wonderful medicinal properties. At all grocers and druggists.

Colman's Mustard

Mustard is one of the oldest and most effective remedies known. It was used by Hippocrates, the "Father of Medicine," 400 B.C., and it is still listed as "official" among curative drugs.

BUYER'S GUIDE AND BUSINESS REVIEW

GIANT STEEL ROLL LATHE MADE HERE

United Engineering Builds Machine With Record Capacity at Local Shop

The condition of business has not stilled industrial progress, nor has it limited the size of man-made facilities for meeting the demands of the new trade era to come. The completion in the Pittsburgh shops of the United Engineering and Foundry Company of the fourth steel mill roll lathe for the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation indicates that industry is preparing to meet new demands for production of steel.

This lathe will serve the Aliquippa installations of the J. & L. Corporation during the next several years, as well as other mills in prospect.

PROCESS CHANGES

Although the new lathe is a duplicate of the lathe which now holds the record for maximum capacity of 60 inches in the plate industry, it will take a roll of 82 inches in diameter and 26 feet long, which is within the limits of standard equipment, with only slight modifications in the driving equipment. Either a gear equipped or straight-face roll can be handled, in diameters from 24 inches to 82 inches.

The process of rolling steel in such large sizes is quite different from that in continuous mills. Instead of the steel being passed through a series of rolling stands, it is fed through a single four-high roll stand. The steel is heated in a furnace, then has been charged into the mill, and is then passed back and forth through the rolls until it has been reduced to the desired thickness. The rolls are then changed to smaller sizes, and the process repeated. Finishing rolls are used to produce a smooth surface on the plate.

CONTROL EASY

The new lathe is 45 feet long, and has all roller-bearing equipped with automatic lubricating system and numerous accessories. The cast steel bedplate alone weighs over 134,000 pounds.

While the lathe is the largest in the world, it is not the largest in power and weight. It is designed to have the same ease of control as a small screw lathe.

Insull Receiverships May Result in Changes In Utility Financing

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

A CHANGE OF FAR reaching proportions is likely to take place in utility financing as a result of the Insull receiverships. The securities of Middle West Utilities Corporation, Securities Insull Utility Investments and Mississippi Valley Utility Investments are focusing public attention on the dangers of the top-heavy capital structures found in the pyramids of holding companies which characterize the electric industry.

The financial dangers of the system of financing followed by these companies have been pointed out by Prof. William Z. Ripley of Harvard university even before the bull market reached its peak. But the investment public, the utility operators and the bankers never took these forecasts of danger seriously.

The electric power industry had an unprecedented early history which tended to make the dominant men in the business blind to considerations which are commonplaces before the leaders of other types of industry. The power companies have reached their present state of growth in the short space of 50 years. Most other infant industries have suffered from periodic interruptions to their growth, but power expansion was steady. Even the depression of 1921 failed to check its annual increase.

* * *

Check to Development Not Generally Foreseen

WITH YEAR BY YEAR growth apparently an assured thing for an indefinite period, the power companies had a constant need of new capital and the stability of their business led them to believe that they were perfectly safe in setting up capital structures which would have been branded as hazardous for any other industry.

The financial dangers of the system of financing followed by these companies have been pointed out by Prof. William Z. Ripley of Harvard university even before the bull market reached its peak. But the investment public, the utility operators and the bankers never took these forecasts of danger seriously.

The electric power industry had an unprecedented early history which tended to make the dominant men in the business blind to considerations which are commonplaces before the leaders of other types of industry. The power companies have reached their present state of growth in the short space of 50 years. Most other infant industries have suffered from periodic interruptions to their growth, but power expansion was steady. Even the depression of 1921 failed to check its annual increase.

* * *

Influence of Slump in Business Not Expected

TO A CERTAIN extent the faith of the utility operators in their business has been justified. The power companies suffered less in earnings from the depression than any other major industry. The operating companies reported relatively slight declines. But the leaders in the power business failed to take into account that fact that their own securities would suffer in market value in sympathy with the rails and the industrials in a prolonged depression.

The earnings of the Insull companies have not been seriously reduced, even though there is now little or no adequate provision for depreciation was not made in all cases. It was the destruction of the market values of the stocks of the underlying companies that wiped out the assets of the Insull holding companies. If their capital structures had been on more conservative lines they would not be in trouble today. If the use of holding companies had been limited to a minimum necessary to carry out operations as is done in other industries the solvency of the organizations would have been dependent solely on earnings and a crashing stock market could not have made receiverships necessary.

The Insull experience undoubtedly will teach investors the desirability of being close to the actual sources of income and may make the formation of elaborate holding company structures impossible in years to come.

U. S. Lead Stocks Show Increase

NEW YORK, April 18 — AP — Stocks of refined United States lead at the end of March were 160,067 tons, compared with 130,426 tons at the end of February, the American Bureau of Metal Statistics said today. Mine production was 34,134 tons, against 32,007 in February and 44,800 in March, 1931. Shipments were 17,116 tons against 26,016 in February and 26,761 in March, 1931.

Shoe Production Higher for March

NEW YORK, April 18 — AP — Shoe production in March showed a gain of more than 10,000,000 pairs over February, but was still a million pairs short of output in March, 1931, the Boot and Shoe Recorder of America reports. The March total was 36,000,000 pairs, against 28,000,000 in February and 37,000,000 in March, 1931.

Advertisers Plan Annual Conference

NEW YORK, April 18 — The tenth annual conference of the National Industrial Advertisers Association will be held at the Hotel Statler in Cleveland, May 16, 17 and 18, according to an announcement just made by Albert Brown, of the Bakelite Corporation, New York, president of the association. Representatives of seven chapters as well as advertising agencies and publishing representatives will take part in the three-day conference program.

SCHOOL TO AID MORE LOCAL GRADUATES

Scholarships in Business Courses Offered Worthy Students of 100 Schools

Pittsburgh School of Accountancy has notified the graduating classes of more than 100 Western Pennsylvania high schools that one member of each group of seniors may become a candidate for the annual scholarship foundation.

A faculty committee of each high school nominates its candidate. Out of this group Pittsburgh School of Accountancy chooses a limited number of the most deserving. The award is equivalent to $250 in every case and is restricted to boys.

After the completion of the freshman year in preparation for accountancy and business administration the successful candidates have a chance to receive further instruction from semester to semester, since they can compete for the regular deans' prizes which consist of a semester's tuition in each class.

This plan has aided many worthy graduates of secondary schools who otherwise would have been unable to continue their technical training.

METAL MARKET TONE FIRMER

NEW YORK, April 18 — Foreign demand for copper expanded at the close of last week, owing partly to firmness of London and the necessity of European consumers to cover requirements. This buying led custom smelters to hold firm in their domestic asking prices at 5¾ cents for electrolytic delivered in the Connecticut Valley and although a slightly better inquiry developed actual buying was limited chiefly to carload lots. Large producers remained out of the market.

A steadier tone in tin occurred late in the week in sympathy with London. Buying of lead has continued at a steady pace with sales said to be somewhat in excess of smelter output.

Zinc eased slightly under price shading from sellers, but actual pressure to sell was not large. Consuming demand, however, remained restricted.

Lake Erie Iron Ore Shipments Decline

CLEVELAND, April 18 — AP — A total of 49,534 gross tons of iron ore were loaded for rail shipment at Lake Erie docks during March, compared with 246,295 for the same month a year ago, the Ore and Coal Exchange reports. Since January 1, 156,821 tons were loaded, while in the same period a year ago the total was 566,671.

COLLEGE BUYS REFRIGERATORS

Modern science and surgery, in its constant aim to further the interests of the human life has adopted electric refrigeration as an aid to its experimental and research work. While several installations of electric refrigeration have been made in the United States recently perhaps one of the most notable examples was made at the Louisiana State Medical College when the executives of that institution purchased 11 Westinghouse electric refrigerators.

The installation was made at the new Medical Center Building in New Orleans. The Westinghouse refrigerators are installed in rooms where the most important branches of anatomy and pathology are studied.

FIRM REPORTS BUSINESS GAIN

Despite the general depressed business conditions the Harley Concrete Burial Vault Company has experienced a consistent growth during 1931 and the first part of 1932, according to J. C. Detling, treasurer of the company.

This increase, however, is attributed by the company people not to any unusual activity in the burial vault industry, but to the fact that the Harley vault is a patented product which is permanent and can be had at a nominal cost and to the consistent growth of the Harley Burial Vault Company.

Municipal Borrowing Schedule Heavier

NEW YORK, April 18 — AP — State and municipal borrowing operations scheduled in 52 communities this week will total $11,-939,924 as compared with $5,906,-685 during the past week according to the Daily Bond Buyer. The weekly average of new bond offerings by states and municipalities for the year to date is $21,035,722.

Kansas Standard Files in Delaware

DOVER, Del., April 18 — The Corporation Trust Company has placed on file with the Secretary of State certificate of incorporation of Standard Oil Company of Kansas with capital stock of $5,000,000, divided into 320,000 shares of $25 par value.

The company has not yet been incorporated in Kansas with the same organization.

Pirates Full of Fight.
Mack Near 2,500 Wins.
Hockey Trades Coming.
Early Harness Feats.
Half-Milers Consistent.

SPIRIT FEATURES CORSAIR VICTORIES.

A SPIRIT OF fight and never give up continues to be the most pleasing feature of the Pirates' encouraging start. This is being shown individually, as well as by the club as a whole.

Augustin Dugas

Gus Dugas had fallen down three times in succession as a pinch-hitter prior to yesterday's game in Cincinnati, but that his failures had not affected his confidence was shown by his success in the fourth attempt, when his smoking single drove in the winning run in the ninth-inning rally.

Young Floyd Vaughan struck out when sent up to bat for Tommy Thevenow now in the first half of the inning, his first time up in the majors, but he had the courage and steadiness to swing a double play on his first big-show fielding chance in the last half of the round, a play that possibly saved the game.

Two of the Bucs' three victories in the first six games on the road were scored by coming from behind and pulling ahead in the ninth inning.

These are items that may look like little things on paper, but they are important as indicating the spirit and fighting qualities of the team. Evidently it won't be due to any letting down or quitting that the Pirates are beaten at any time, and that's the main requisite of a successful club.

THE A'S WILL have to play only .500 ball this year to bring to Connie Mack a new distinction. His American League teams in Philadelphia will have won a grand total of 2,500 games. When the present season opened last week the White Elephants were credited with 2,423 victories since their start in 1901.

Therefore only 77 more games, or just half of the scheduled number, will have to be won this season to bring the mark up to 2,500. Ernest J. Lanigan, baseball statistician, reports that Mack's nine pennant winners won 886 games, his seven tailenders 323 and his 15 other outfits 1,214.

BASEBALL WAS A game for the rough and ready back in the stirring '90's when Jack Doyle, now a scout for the Cubs, played for two of the fightingest clubs of all time, the Giants and Orioles. And Doyle himself was one of the scrappiest players of his own or any other period.

Today this graduate of a hard-boiled school finds it a changed sport. "The old type of player is gone, never to return," Doyle moans. "The big job of the scout today is to find a ball player who can talk bass."

IN THESE DAYS when boxing promoters must offer extra inducements to bring out the fans in the old-time numbers, Matchmaker Eddie Mack, at Mechanics Building in Boston, appears to be outdoing the rest. At each of his shows during the season he has been awarding an automobile to the holder of a lucky seat stub. He will now abandon that system and introduce another custom at tonight's show, which is headlined by Spider Pladner and George Ostrow, of Revere. At this and each succeeding show, the holder of the lucky stub will be given two ringside seats for the Schmeling-Sharkey heavyweight championship fight on June 16, with transportation from Boston to New York and return.

Charley Reid

THE NEXT HOCKEY season is a long way off, but Pittsburgh fans are hopeful that Coach Charley Reid, of the local International League club, will follow the lead of the National League managers and get busy at once on plans to bolster his outfit.

Indications point to more trading and shifting of players in the National League before next winter than that loop has known in many years. With the exception of Toronto, every club in the circuit has puckmen to dispose of, and John Ross Roach, the Ranger goalie, is only the first of a number of prominent skaters to be placed on the block.

FURTHER SHIFTING IS rendered probable by the prospect that the National League is to go back to 10 clubs by restoring the teams of Philadelphia and Ottawa. The owners of these two franchises loaned their players to other clubs when they withdrew from the circuit last season with the understanding that the men would revert to their original outfits when the latter decided to resume operations.

Ottawa especially is reconsidering a return to the major ranks, and in the case of Philadelphia, which holds Pittsburgh's old franchise, the business done by the Arrows in the Canadian-American League this last winter has convinced the powers that the big league checked out of the Quaker City too soon. Philadelphia, evidently, was just beginning to become hockey-minded.

THE RETURN OF Grand Circuit racing to the vicinity of Boston has stirred the memories of veteran light harness enthusiasts in the Hub. They are recalling the great occasion on August 28, 1897, when the pacer Star Pointer, at the Readville track near there, tore off the first two-minute mile ever made in harness, coming home in 1:59½. Experts had predicted that no horse would be able to trot or pace a mile in two minutes. Star Pointer proved them wrong. Meanwhile the trotters also were improving, and six years later, or on August 24, 1903, at the same track, Lou Dillon made the first mile ever trotted in even time. On October 19, of the same year, at Wichita, Cresceus trotted the first mile under two minutes in 1:58¾.

SINCE THAT TIME the two-minute mark has been equaled or bettered by pacers and trotters no fewer than 172 times. Pacer Dan Patch alone reached the charmed circle first drawn by Star Pointer 31 times; Peter Manning, trotter, did the mile in two minutes or better on 15 occasions, and Single G, pacer, placed 11 performances of that nature to his credit.

The records were gradually ground down until Dan Patch paced a mile in 1:55¼ in 1905 and did 1:55 with a windshield and pacemaker in 1906, while Peter Manning in 1922 set the world trotting record at 1:56½. Uhlan did it in 1:54½ in 1913, but with a running mate. Among the reinsmen, Tommy Murphy drove the greatest number of fast miles, traveling the route in two minutes or better 33 times.

LOOKING BACK OVER the trail, Lawrence Robinson finds that the half-milers have been the most consistent performers in the track world at holding to the same form and a common standard of speed since running marks were first recorded some 60 years ago.

Ben Eastman

In the last 37 years, the world record for 880 yards has been lowered only 2.1 seconds. In 47 years it has been cut down only 4.1 seconds. That offers a sharp contrast to the achievements at other distances that have gone into the books during the same periods.

VIEWED FROM THIS angle the recent feat of Ben Eastman in slicing the figure to 1 minute 51.3 seconds is all the more remarkable. The first American to set a world record for the half was Lon Myers, who did it in 1:55.4. That was in 1885, and it stood until 1895, when Charley Kilpatrick reduced it to 1:53.4. Since Kilpatrick's performance, the record has been bettered only four times in almost four decades, and in each instance very slightly. Emilio Lunghi, Italian runner, lowered it to 1:52.8 in 1909, and in 1916 Ted Meredith dropped it further to 1:52.2. That stood until Dr. Otto Peltzer made the distance in 1:51.6 in 1926, and now Eastman has come in as only the fourth man to shade Kilpatrick's mark in 37 years. At no other distance have the world's greatest runners been so even in form for the same length of time.

UNPAID BILLS BRING JACK'S SUSPENSION

CHICAGO, April 18.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, is under suspension in National Boxing Association territory, and Champion Max Schmeling was in danger of being barred by the group.

Gen. John V. Clinnin, president of the N. B. A. has upheld the Mississippi Athletic Commission in the suspension, which was imposed on the basis of charges that Dempsey, his manager, Leonard Sacks, and a promoter, Ned Parsons, had left $2,800 in unpaid bills after a "Dempsey Day" show at Columbus, Miss., in November, 1930.

A suspension threat was made just before Dempsey's exhibition bout with King Levinsky at the Chicago Stadium February 18, but it was not pressed when Sacks and Dempsey appeared before the commissior and agreed to straighten out the difficulty.

Gen. Clinnin is awaiting information from Thomas Murphy, chairman of the Canadian Boxing Federation, on a report that Schmeling appeared in an exhibition at Toronto last week against Jack Shaw, who is alleged to have posed as George Panka, Pittsburgh heavyweight, and indicated the champion would be barred from N. B. A. territory if the charge is proved.

CUP NET ACES IN NEW TEST

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., April 18.—(AP)—H. Ellsworth Vines is affording plenty of opportunity for sombre reflection by "viewers-with-alarm" these days.

Hailed as the tennis giant who would regain the Davis Cup for this country after he captured the national singles title last summer, Vines has been beaten so frequently this spring that some observers fear the Davis Cup is just as far away as ever.

Vines has been beaten four times in the last month. He lost to Lester Stoefen in the final round for the Los Angeles city title, was eliminated in the second round of the Houston invitation by Martin Buxby; and was beaten by Wilmer Allison in the final rounds of both the Tulane invitation and the North and South tournaments. Whether the tall Pasadena youngster simply is rounding into shape more slowly than he did a year ago may be demonstrated in the Mason and Dixon tournament at the Greenbrier Country Club here this week. Play starts today.

Vines and his Davis Cup teammates, Frank Shields, Allison and John Van Ryn, were entered in men's singles along with Berkeley Bell, of New York, No. 10 in the national rankings, and Gregory Mangin, of Newark, No. 11.

DE MAR READY FOR GRIND

BOSTON, April 18.—(AP)—With his Olympic hopes blazing brighter than they did 20 years ago when he first wore the American shield at Stockholm, Clarence Demar, the peerless marathoner is ready for the Boston A. A.'s thirty-sixth annual marathon race tomorrow.

Demar, nearing his forty-fourth birthday, has high hopes of automatically qualifying for the American Olympic marathon team for the fourth time by winning tomorrow's race. If he succeeds, it will be his eighth victory in 14 starts. His poorest performance in this race was in 1929, when he finished ninth. Last year he was fifth.

At one time or another during the quarter of a century that Demar has been competing, he has won every important long distance race in this country. For years he has been America's greatest long distance runner, but the prize that he covets, an Olympic marathon victory, always has escaped him.

Pitt Boxers Card Eight Dual Meets

The University of Pittsburgh boxing schedule for 1933 contains eight matches, four meets at home and four away.

Three new foes, Navy, Duquesne and W. & J., will be met, the first named school being met at Annapolis, and the last two in the Pitt Stadium Pavilion.

January 21, Temple at Philadelphia; January 28, West Virginia at the Pitt Stadium; February; 4, Army at West Point; February 11, Duquesne at the Pitt Stadium; February 16, Carnegie Tech at the Pitt Stadium; February 25, Navy at Annapolis; March 7, Washington and Jefferson at the Pitt Stadium; March 11, West Virginia at Morgantown, W. Va.

It has been announced that the date for the Pitt-Carnegie Tech basketball game, at the Pitt Stadium, originally carded for January 30, had been shifted to March 17.

SPORT VIGNETTES

One of the unsung heroes of the times is Elmer Daily, as he strives with might and main to pull together the loose ends of the Middle Atlantic League, of which he is president. . . From a 12-club circuit last year, this league now is down to just half that many teams, and it is anything but a safe bet that they will be set to go when the bell rings. . . A game guy is Elmer.

Mike Sebastian, the Pitt football ace, who is alternating between moleskins and a track suit in workouts, also is a baseball player. . . . He drills with the footballers one day and practices with the track squad the next. . . . While at Sharon High School, he competed in the 100 and 220-yard dashes, low hurdles, high and broad jumps, discus throw and shot put to score 35 points in a dual meet with Raven High School at Youngstown. . . . That's versatility for you. . . . As a Panther, he's confining his track and field activities to the low hurdles and broad jump and is being counted upon to score in the opening meet with Ohio State at the Pitt Stadium next Saturday.

Two young Negro lads are among the best fistic prospects in Pittsburgh right now, and they deserve the helping hand of appreciation which long has been denied them. . . . They are Billy Holt, 20, welterweight, and Jackie Wilson, 21, featherweight, both managed by Jess Miller, of the East End. . . . Holt is the son of a minister in Canton, O., and, with Wilson, resides with a minister in Homewood. Wilson's folks living on a farm near Leechburg. . . . Billy is a Sunday school teacher in the Baptist Temple, Frankstown avenue and Collier street.

Holt is anxious to box Jimmy Belmont and Ted Yarosz, and deserves the chance on his record. . . . He has boxed Jimmy Kelly, Larry Madge, Billy Rose, Ray Lyle and Yarosz twice each and Joe Trippe and Tiger Joe Randall, among others and believes he can win the local welterweight title if given the opportunity. . . . He has turned in decision victories over Randall and Rose his last two times out and has changed his style from that of a waiting counter puncher into an aggressive fighter and puncher. . . . As for Wilson, the only foe who holds a victory over him that has not been wiped out is Johnny Datto, the Filipino, who knocked him out at a time when Jackie wasn't ready for such tough game. . . . He holds victories over Willie Davies, Matty Mathison, Jimmy Thomas, Steve Senich, Johnny Warner, Mose Butch, Ross Fields, Sammy Paris, Al Iovino and Johnny Haggerty, having beaten Butch and Fields after first losing to them.

Ted Husing's baseball broadcasting is being investigated by the American League on complaint of umpires, although he didn't call them putrid. . . At 45, Jerry Travers, four times National amateur and once National Open champion, will turn professional because the depression has wiped out his cotton brokerage business and he must support his wife and three children. . . Another tragedy of sport. . . Ball players are sore because they can't talk to their friends in the grandstand. . . Such a rule does not handicap wrestlers, who'll leave the ring upon the slightest provocation for a chat with Joe Zilch in the fifteenth row. . .

Hoosier Racer Sets New Speed Record

OAKLAND, Cal., April 18.—(AP)—Bob Cary, Indianapolis, averaged 91.505 miles an hour to break the American dirt track record and won the 100-mile automobile race at the Oakland Speedway yesterday. His time for the distance was 1 hour 5 minutes and 24 4-5 seconds.

SHANNON WINS OVER SWITCH

By TOM BIRKS

Taking advantage of the breaks and overconfident opponents, the Shannon Morrys tied up matters in the Western Pennsylvania challenge Cup series by defeating the Union Switch and Signal eleven, 3 goals to 1, at South Park yesterday.

The Switchmen won the first game at Scott High School field a week ago last Saturday, 1 goal to 0. The third and deciding game of the series, which carries the trophy with it, will be played at Scott field Saturday afternoon.

The first half of yesterday's game gave every indication of topping the first fray for real action, thrills and football but the second half, after the Morrys went into the lead, was slow. The lineup:

Morrys		Union S. & S.

West Point Head Gets Football Letter

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 18.—(AP)—Maj. Gen. William R. Smith, retiring superintendent of the United States Military Academy has been awarded a major "A" in football.

Cadet John A. Price, last year's captain, presented Maj. Gen. Smith with a gold football similar to those awarded letter men on the squad in recognition of the keen support the superintendent had given army athletics, especially football.

Gen. Smith will be placed on the retired list on April 30, after 47 years of service. He was graduated from the Military Academy in 1892.

CINCINNATI, April 18.—Larry French, ace southpaw of the Pittsburgh Pirates, will take the mound here this afternoon against the Cincinnati Reds for the Pirates in the rubber game of the series. The Buccos, after dropping the first clash Saturday, came back nobly yesterday to nose out the Rhinelanders, 4 to 3, with Glenn Spencer and Gus Dugas performing in hero roles.

The veteran Red Lucas, in the past has been a consistent winner against the Pirates, is due to perform for the locals.

BENTON WEAKENS

A last minute rally which scored three runs enabled the Pirates to defeat the Reds yesterday.

Larry Benton was on the mound for the Redlegs, and for eight innings managed to hold the Buccaneers to one lone run, while his mates had piled up three. He weakened in the ninth and issued walks to Traynor and Piet, which were followed by a triple by Gus Suhr and a single by Gus Dugas, who batted for Spencer and a wild throw by Herman giving the Pirates three runs and allowing them to pull the game out of the fire.

Spencer hurled brilliantly for the Pirates, limiting the Rhinelanders to five hits during the eight innings he performed on the mound.

The Reds made all their hits off Spencer in the first four frames, Glenn retiring them in order in the next four. He fanned Babe Herman, Red slugger, on two occasions in the fifth and eighth innings to retire the side.

VAUGHAN BREAKS IN

Floyd Vaughan, recruit shortstop made his major league debut in the ninth inning. He batted for Tommy Thevenow and went down swinging. He played the shortfield in the last half of the ninth and after Crabtree had singled, he turned Heath's hot smash into a neat double play.

Pie Traynor was the only Pirate who was able to solve Benton with any degree of consistency, the Buccs captain getting two singles and a walk in four times at bat. Traynor also played a sensational fielding game, handling nine chances in the field, his diving stop of Douthit's bid

Nick Altrock Baseball's Humorist Says:

WASHINGTON, April 18.—I love that National League rule against players talking to spectators. But they can't make a guy like Art Shires keep his mouth shut by fines. They'll have to try imprisonment to keep Arthur silent, or maybe the electric chair.

Nick Altrock

There's also a dandy regulation against fraternizing with the opposing team. If Jack Wilson wants to pass the time of day with Pepper Martin, they will have to use wig-wag signals like Boy Scouts. Why don't the National League just tack smallpox signs over the players' benches and let it go at that?

MOUNDSMEN SHOW EARLY FORM

GIANT ROOKIE STARS: MACKS BEAT NATS

Associated Press

Not since the days before the lively ball have the National league pitchers demonstrated such batting early-season talent.

The season is but a week old, yet they have rolled up records [illegible] games in which the opposition made more than five hits.

Dazzy Vance of Brooklyn and Hal Schumacher of the Giants have contributed two masterpieces. Vic Sorrell of the Cardinals, Earl Whitehill of Detroit and Si Johnson of Cincinnati have pitched three-hit games. Monte Weaver of Washington and Whitlow Wyatt of Detroit have [illegible] to their credit. The five hurlers include Pat Caraway of the Chicago Whitesox and Dick Coffman and Sam Gray of the St. Louis Browns. Ed Brandt of the Boston Braves, Ed Holley of the Phillies and Guy Bush of the Chicago Cubs.

SCHUMACHER STRONG

Schumacher, young New Jersey lad, pitched the Giants out of a slump with his excellent effort yesterday and enabled them to beat the Braves 6-0. Johnny Vergez's home run with the bases full was the big blow in the Giant attack. Schumacher allowed [illegible] got both of the hits Schumacher allowed.

Holley's five-hitter gave the Phillies a 2-0 triumph over Brooklyn in 12 innings. A single by Chuck Klein, double by Don Hurst and triple by Ha Lee decided the duel.

Bush stopped the World Champion St. Louis Cardinals cold and the Cubs won 4-1 with Riggs Stephenson driving in three runs. Pittsburgh scored three runs in the ninth to beat Cincinnati 4-1 in the other National league game.

EARNSHAW FANS 12

George Earnshaw fanned 12 men as the Philadelphia Athletics trounced Washington 12 to 3. The A's drove Fred Marberry out of the box in the fourth inning after battering three other Senator hurlers over the [illegible] route.

Cold weather forced postponement of the New York Yankees-Boston Red Sox game at Boston. Ruth came down with grippe. The Babe did not expect to travel with the team for an exhibition game at Springfield today, but probably will start in the double-header tomorrow.

ACTION IN SOCCER BATTLE

BENICK CLEARS GOAL AS MORRYS WIN WEST PENN CUP GAME, 3-1

The Castle Shannon Morrys evened their series with Union Switch and Signal by winning the second battle at South Park yesterday afternoon after being beaten, 1-0, on a penalty kick in the opener at the Scott High School field a week before. Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph picture shows Goalkeeper Benick of the Morrys, clearing his goal, with Fullback Peckovitch and Halfback Paton keeping away the Switch forwards. TENNIS SEASON OPENS HERE THIS WEEK

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Although one scarcely would guess it from all of the tennis hereabouts the past fortnight of wintry weather, the district racquet campaign gets under way here in the course of the current week.

Just three days hence, youthful netmen of the new Interscholastic Tennis Conference move into action on preparatory and high school courts throughout city and county. On Saturday, Pitt and the Dukes tangle in the latter's bailiwick to open intercollegiate hostilities.

Only the club performers remain aloof from the competitive sphere, the P. T. A. circuit being still more than a month shy of its probable inaugural date.

20 SCHOOL TEAMS

The scholastic stars comprising 20 teams divided into three county and two city sections of four squads apiece, represent the most interesting local court experiment beheld in recent years. The popularity of the project of John Irwin, Cap Palmer, Elmer Carroll, Foxy Miller and company in placing the school racqueting on an organized championship basis has been amply attested by response from the score of institutions enrolled for the initial season.

With every prospect of success this spring, the likelihood of further expansion in 1933 is virtually certain, all of which means spread of the sport among hundreds of youngsters who otherwise might never play the game seriously until advancing age had rendered improvement along most advantageous lines doubly difficult.

DUKES' COACH PUZZLED

Meanwhile, the powerful Panthers, deprived of outdoor practice to date, face several afternoons of intensive drilling prior to their fracas with the comparatively green Bluffite host, which with various interruptions has been working in the open on asphalt since early in April. Capt. Ed Alcorn, Billy O'Loughlin, Billy Jacobs, Nat Ganger, Irvin Goodman, and the rest of the Pitt array should round into form right speedily.

The Dukes, however, present more of a problem to their mentors for the Hill singles set-up, aside from Capt. Rege Bullion and Frank Casey, remains a regular jigsaw puzzle, and the doubles may be termed the same thing twice over.

Coach B. P. Hoover's Carnegie Tech crew will also hit the severe grind this week, though the Skibos will not be called upon to face outside opposition till they encounter Duquesne on the Bluff on April 27.

Schenley Park Links Opening Saturday

Director of Public Works Edward G. Lang will formally and officially open the Schenley Park municipal links for play at 9 o'clock next Saturday morning, he announced today.

"The fairways and greens are in such splendid condition," said Director Lang, "that it will do them a great deal of good to get an extra week's rest. The turf is in better condition than ever in the history of the course."

While the course has been open throughout the winter, the official opening will mark the season's inaugural play on permanent greens. Director Lang will speak at the opening ceremonies.

Gledhill Winner In Honolulu Play

HONOLULU, April 18.—(AP.)—Keith Gledhill, national intercollegiate tennis champion, defeated Jack Clemenger, Australian Davis Cup player, 6-0, 6-4, in the fourth round of the men's singles of the mid-Pacific invitational tournament yesterday.

The California star and Robert Hooks, of Honolulu, entered the semi-finals of the men's doubles, defeating Setsuji Nakano and Richard Pond, 6-2, 6-0.

Other Best Right thoroughbreds named for the event are Lady Broadcast, Tycoon, Field, Burning Up and Tanners, promising the best field in the history of the track.

Chillysauce

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

All of the Pirate victories to date were recorded on top of spurts from the rear. Such behavior reflects unusual hustle even if it were in evidence on the home lot when a youthful club cuts up in this manner on hostile territory much should be said in its favor.

Suhr's triple in the ninth appears to have been the pivotal drive as the Freebooters copped yesterday in Cincinnati. It is apparent also that a young Polish fellow named Pietruszka, not Comorosky, had a lot to do with the success.

The Winged-footer from Wichita had his head up on a couple of occasions while on the sacks. When Babe Herman tried to nick Suhr at the plate in the ninth as Gustavus streaked home with the winning marker, Tony the Piet carried the winning tally into the scoring zone and Dangerous Dugas did the rest. Commy, by the way, will have to go to hittin' soon to keep Dugas on the bench.

The rejuvenated Reds have played heavily on the strings of their rabid followers. The season is not a week old; yet Howley's Hustlers have played to two big audiences. But many of the 18,700 who saw the favorites fold up in the ninth yesterday will think a long time before they go back. Cincinnati, nevertheless, is a dandy baseball town.

Walter Maranville and Burleigh Grimes have both paid their respects to the rather ridiculous new rule in baseball which forbids conversation between players and spectators. The legislation appears to have been prompted by a desire to break up a practice involving gamblers. Every now and then a member of the betting clan will make so bold as to solicit the name of the pitcher of the day before placing a bet. A rule forbidding the dissemination of such information by players would have been relished by the athletes and it would have been popular all around. The new move is likely to hurt the sport in no small manner.

Grimes reports a case where a spectator was hit in the jaw by a foul ball while Burleigh was warming up near the stands. He wanted to render assistance, but he said would have risked a fine had he talked to the victim.

for a hit in the fifth which was the fielding gem of the day's play.

L. WANER CHECKED

Lloyd Waner was finally stopped after hitting safely in four contests. The younger Waner faced Benton on five occasions and failed to reach first.

Gus Suhr was able to run his streak to six games. The Bucco first-sacker tripled in the ninth to score Traynor for his only hit of the contest.

Floyd Young, recruit infielder, was released under option to the Tulsa club of the Western League. He was notified yesterday and will leave tonight to join the team at Tulsa.

The Pirate ailing list was increased yesterday when Johnny Niggeling, recruit hurler, came up with a slight attack of the flu that will keep him out of uniform for a few days.

U. S. Horse Third In Epsom Opener

EPSOM DOWNS, England, April 18.—(AP.)—J. Cooper's Rio De Paris, carrying the feather impost of 91 pounds, today galloped to a five-length victory in the Great Metropolitan stakes, opening the spring meeting at the Downs.

Cooper's 4-year-old was followed under the wire by A. J. Buston's Chelmarch, carrying 109 pounds and with Steve Donoghue up. Notice Board, 6-year-old owned by W. M. G. Singer, the American, was third, three lengths further back. Notice Board carried 120 pounds.

STOCK MARKET BEGINS WEEK WOBBLY

List Again Turns Down After Short-Lived Rally Caused by Rail Buying

NEW YORK, April 18.—(AP)—The stock market wobbled uncertainly at the start of the new week today.

While the improved sentiment in banking and brokerage circles which developed last week was still apparent, the week-end business and trade reports failed to provide enough encouragement to banish the cautious attitude toward stocks and trading was sluggish. Even the bond market after the sweeping gains of last week was given a breathing spell.

After a morning sag which carried some stocks to new lows, the list was bolstered for a time by a ripple of buying in the rails. The market turned heavy again by early afternoon however. American Telephone was sold in some volume, sagging 2 points to a new low since 1921. It then recovered partly, but met fresh selling on the upturn. United States Steel sagged a point to 32¼, the bear market low, before meeting support. Eastman dropped 3 points and Coca Cola 2. In the rails, several issues sold up a point or so including Chesapeake and Ohio, New York Central, Union Pacific and Santa Fe, but in the main, these advances were short lived.

The rails received some stimulation from early reports of March earnings. Chesapeake and Ohio made a particularly favorable showing, with net operating income of $2,866,022, a gain of about $500,000 over a year previously. Other favorable aspects of the railroad outlook were indications of further progress in the eastern trunkline consolidation plans and the Interstate Commerce Commission's special report urging coordination of railway and motor traffic and federal regulation of motor vehicles operating in interstate traffic. On the other hand it was expected that this week's report of the movement of revenue freight would again be unfavorable.

Reports from the steel industry indicated a slight pickup in production this week, with a little expansion in buying by automobile makers. Efforts of one large motor manufacturer to obtain price concessions from the steel makers were believed to have been unsuccessful. Some authorities now expect the April automobile output may be somewhat less than seasonal, although a substantial gain over March seems assured.

Investment Advisory Services week-end surveys showed considerable divergence of opinion over the outlook. One leading service said security holders were warranted in expecting definite improvement will gradually occur. Another looked for duller times during the late spring and summer and lower prices. More optimistic sources appear to be placing considerable stress upon the reserve system's credit expansion program.

California Crude Oil Output Gains

LOS ANGELES, April 18.—California crude oil output in the week ended April 16 averaged 520,150 barrels daily, an increase of 5,325 barrels over the week preceding, according to California Oil World.

Output in East Texas field averaged 343,314 barrels daily during the week, a gain of 5,845 barrels over the previous week.

Globe-Wernicke Changes Proposed

CINCINNATI, April 18.—(AP)—A financial reorganization of the Globe-Wernicke Company to avoid receivership is proposed by Henry C. Yeiser, Jr., president, in a letter sent to stockholders.

Yeiser said that because of a decline in the volume of business since January 1, "it is our judgment inventory values should be further drastically reduced."

UNITED COVERS COMMON RATE

NEW YORK, April 18. (AP)—The United Corporation, Morgan-sponsored public utility investing company, shows for the first quarter of 1932 that it fully earned its common dividend with a margin to spare.

Dividends and interest received in cash by the company, not including dividends received in stock, amounted to $3,904,000. After payment of interest and current expenses there was a balance applicable to dividends of $3,651,000. After payment of the quarterly dividend on the $3 cumulative preference stock, there was a balance of $1,785,000 left for the common, equivalent to 12 cents a share against the quarterly payment of 10 cents.

Balance after all dividends amounted to $332,000, which was carried to surplus, increasing that figure to $7,873,000.

The company reported $18,445,000 net for the full year 1930. First quarter earnings for this year were at an annual rate of $14,607,000.

OTHER ENCOURAGING developments include:

Pronounced signs that recovery is definitely under way, both industrially and financially, in Britain.

Growing hopefulness that the worst of the House's tax proposals will be eliminated following the lucid, vigorous information and education supplied by Secretary Mills.

Increasing confidence that the threatened throttling tax on security dealings will be either drastically modified or dropped.

Manifestations that President Hoover and his associates plan vigorous constructive action, including plain speaking to bankers and other men of affairs who have allowed timidity to stampede them into ultra deflationary action.

Intimations that the Glass bill, still regarded by the banking world as a menace, will be shelved.

George F. Baker Estate Holds Largest Blocks Of U. S. Steel

Some of the larger holdings of the common stock outside of the directorate and finance committee members were credited to Lawrence C. Phipps, 50,000 shares; Coniseed Company, 31,000; Luke B. Cutler, 27,532; Frank K. Baron, 17,153; Cleveland Trust Company, 13,517. Insurance companies continued prominent in the list of larger holders of United States Steel preferred. The New York Life Insurance Company was down as the holder of 117,300 shares; Mutual Life, 37,500, and Mutual Benefit Life, 10,000.

The 1932 motto of the petroleum industry, according to one well-informed source, is to be "profits per gallonage." This would imply less of the competition which was so disastrous to profits in 1931. There are others equally well-informed however, who would like to see the motto followed to the letter, but are not altogether hopeful. In such quarters there is some apprehension lest higher crude prices stimulate production again, and bring a fresh rush of distress oil on the market.

Railroad and other mergers invariably are undertaken with a view to the benefits to be derived from the new and closer alignment of the principals. But judging from the indicated costs of preparations for the four-party consolidation program in the East, it might be some time before the benefits of the proposed realignment are realized. Strategy exercised through the purchase of control of roads sought appears on the basis of figures filed in the Loree brief to have been costly. Stocks bought by the Van Sweringen group now have a value of about $197,892,000 against a cost of $520,153,169. Pennsylvania purchases a value of $78,351,120 against cost of $276,157,000 and those of the B. & O. a value of $79,267,233 against cost of $131,279,000.

General Electric's impending ... quarter report will ... interested refer to the condition of almost complete stagnation which prevailed in the electric equipment industry during the first three months of the year. Unofficial but reliable estimates indicate that the company will show a balance of 16 cents a share was earned for its common stock in the March quarter, as compared with the equivalent of 38 cents a share earned in the initial three months of 1931. New business booked during the period will likewise reflect the slack in orders it is said.

"Westinghouse Air Brake is currently valued at less than the worth of its net current assets," says Barron's Weekly. "The $1 annual dividend, recently reduced from a $2 basis, affords a yield of 10 per cent, and is obviously better protected than the majority of disbursements in the industrial list. Although the near-term outlook for earnings is not very encouraging the stock appears so thoroughly deflated that there should be strong incentive to retain the issue unless you need to adopt the more conservative policy of concentrating funds in bonds and sound preferred stocks during a period of extreme unsettlement such as this country is now experiencing," says the weekly.

STEEL DIVIDEND POLICY O. K.'D

HOBOKEN, N. J., April 18 (AP).—Stockholders of the United States Steel Corporation, meeting in annual session here today, voted down an attempt to express disapproval of the directors' action on the dividend question.

Opposition to reductions made in the rate on the common stock was expressed by Charles A. Roberts, representing a group of small shareholders. He urged maintenance of the present $2 dividend on the common.

Myron C. Taylor, who made his first appearance as chairman of the board, denied Roberts' contention that the dividend had actually been fully earned last year. He said that, as a matter of fact, the corporation in 1931 showed a deficit from operations of $6,300,519. He presented figures to show that there had been a deficit of $68,000,000 after dividends as a result of 1931 operations, pointing out that various additional charges had caused an impairment of $76,939,217 in net liquid assets.

Roberts' amendment was then defeated and the directors' policies stood approved.

William A. Irvin, who will succeed James A. Farrell as president of the United States Steel Corporation, was today elected a director to fill a vacancy.

Central Securities Wins Court Decision

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The U. S. Supreme Court today held the New York Central Securities Corporation had shown probable jurisdiction in its appeal from a lower court decision sustaining an Interstate Commerce Commission order which authorized New York Central to lease the Big Four, Michigan Central and Chicago, Kalamazoo and Saginaw railroads. The Securities Corporation also seeks to set aside a commission order authorizing the New York Central as lessee, to guarantee certain securities of Michigan Central and Big Four.

Stock Membership Price Gains $1,000

NEW YORK, April 18.—Arrangements have been made for the sale of a New York Stock Exchange seat at $82,000, an increase of $1,000 from the previous sale.

The New York Cotton Exchange seat of the late Edward P. Walker was sold at auction to Frank G. Brown for $12,300, an increase of $300 from the last previous transaction.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad reported first quarter net (or loss) of $1,[illegible] equal to [illegible] cents a common share, against $1,018,484 or 65 cents on the common in the first quarter of 1931. The road's net railway operating income in March amounted to a gain, not shown, over a year ago, totaling $2,866,022 compared with $2,536,291.

Tokyo Electric Light Company gross earnings for the year ended November 30, 1931 increased [illegible] cents per ten amounted to $53,614,444 compared with $50,616,944 for the year ended November 30, 1930.

Graham-Paige Motors Corporation reports for first quarter ended March 31 net profit of $166,539 after charges and taxes, compared with a net loss of $174,523 in the corresponding quarter of 1931. The company sold 9,124 cars in the quarter against 6,111 in the like period a year ago.

Mengel Company, in a preliminary report, shows a net loss for 1931 of $671,000 after interest, depreciation and reserves and adjustments. This compares with a net loss in 1930 of $406,161.

Cream of Wheat Corporation reports for the quarter ended March 31 net profit of $416,343 after charges and federal taxes, equal to 67 cents a share. This compares with $466,795 or $1 cents a share in the 1931 quarter.

Electric Power and Light Corporation and subsidiaries net income for 12 months ended February 29, 1932, was $9,612,695, after taxes, depreciation, subsidiary preferred dividends and minority interests, compared with $12,470,930 in the 12 months ended February 28, 1931.

Chile Copper Company and its subsidiaries, comprising one of the principal operating properties in the Anaconda Copper Mining group, reports for 1931, operating revenues of $10,966,000, against $26,814,000 in 1930. MURDER OF THE NIGHT CLUB LADY :-: :-: By ANTHONY ABBOT

CHAPTER X.

"Mr. Colt," snarled Rowland, "I am bored—I want to go home. My presence here is of no comfort to Mrs. Carewe. And certainly I can be of no conceivable assistance to the police."

Colt smiled frankly, and to my surprise he responded:

"Exactly."

Relief flooded the aged attorney's face. With a mincing air, he walked up to the Commissioner and held out his hand.

"My dear Mr. Colt," he said, "it is indeed a pleasure to know that our administration has put a gentleman in Headquarters. I shall hold myself in readiness to be called at any time that you may need me. And by the way—Mrs. Carewe asked me to say to you, that she will be here directly."

"Not in the least."

THREATENED OTHERS

"No. Only what you could self heard tonight. Fact is, Lola was just the other way, poor child. Hot-headed, you know—threatening to kill other people."

"Seriously, Mr. Rowland?"

"Oh, I suppose so. Perhaps I shouldn't have mentioned it. But she did say to me two or three weeks ago that the people who were bothering her soon wouldn't bother her any longer. I don't know who she meant—bounce is her prophecy came true in a way she didn't expect, poor darling."

"Don't you have any idea whom she had quarreled with?" urged Colt, as the old man began to edge through the door.

"Lola quarreled with everybody. Especially that actor Everett and his friend Christine. Just temperament, I suppose—poor infant! Once she told me some people were trying to intimidate her. I don't remember the names. But she seemed to feel secure. Lola had her own ways of managing. I suppose—a very attractive and clever woman. Anything else now, Mr. Colt?"

I expected Colt to insist on pursuing this promising if elusive lead. But he seemed to shrug it off as not of great consequence—one of his deadliest tricks of deception.

"Nothing," he replied, "except that I might need you later tonight. Mind!"

ROWLAND FOLLOWED

Chung now followed the old man back into the living-room. Now he came forward with the Rowland stick, hat and muffler. Rowland bowed to Colt with a courtly air and left the room. At once Colt closed the door, exiled Chung to the kitchen, turned to Fallon and gave brisk orders.

"Put a tail on that old man night and day—six men working in three eight-hour shifts. Get Rowland up and put him to bed until further orders. Stick to him."

If, as Lowell Courtleigh, the elevator boy, declared, Christine had ridden up with him at 12:15 o'clock, where had she spent the intervening hours?

Lola told us this belonged to Christine," he murmured aloud. "I wonder—"

He began poking through the contents of the bag, the expected tools of beautifying and a small brass key which as Colt now proved, fitted the front door. The commissioner's quiet consternation was growing.

"Did no one see her come in?" pursued Colt, murmuring aloud his perplexity. "They were all here, Lola's mother, the butler, and the maid. When we arrived, one of the first questions Lola asked her maid was whether Christine had returned."

MOTHER QUESTIONED

"And Eunice, the maid, declared she had not returned," remembered Dougherty, his eloquent blue eyes rolling suspiciously. "It doesn't look right to me, Thatcher."

Before the Commissioner could reply Mrs. Carewe entered the living-room in answer to Colt's summons. The tall, straight old woman was very pale and resolved to be courageous. It seemed cruel to examine her. But no police officer can choose between gallantry and results. Even Dorothy Lox was now sent from the room.

Colt offered Mrs. Carewe a chair. Meanwhile, I had found a pad of note paper and a pencil and was ready to take stenographic notes of questions and answers.

"Mrs. Carewe," he said, "did you know when Christine Quires returned home tonight?"

"Did you hear anyone come in?"

"No one."

"But you realize that Christine must have come in."

She couldn't have. She is a noisy sort of person. I always know when she was in by the way she ran around the place. I don't see what difference it makes anyhow."

"I think I ought to make one point very clear to you, Mrs. Carewe. We believe your daughter was murdered."

"We believe your daughter was murdered," said Colt.

"You do?" she asked in a flat, dead voice.

Hence we may have to ask many questions that seem impertinent. I am counting on you to help us."

Simply by keeping calm and telling us everything we need to know."

I can do both, Mr. Colt," she answered with dignity.

"Arthur Garfield Grant, down in Wall street."

He has charge of all her important papers?"

"Yes, and he has plenty."

"Has he the key to her safe-deposit boxes?"

"Yes, he has."

"Now, Mrs. Carewe, do you know anything about the death of Lola's dog and parrot?"

I know they died—but I don't believe they were poisoned. I think Lola was superstitious that way—always believing people were against her and wanting to do her harm. She was that way from a little girl."

Colt nodded thoughtfully as he searched for a cigaret.

Synopsis

Lola Carewe, night club habitue, receives a death threat New Year's Eve. Previously her dog and parrot were mysteriously killed. District Attorney Merle K. Dougherty suspects Lola of being the "brains" of the jewel thief ring that has baffled the police. Although her husband, Gaylord Gifford, died practically penniless, Lola lives in luxury. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt places a guard in Lola's penthouse apartment, warning her that she must not be alone in a room at any time. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother, Chung the butler, Eunice the maid, and Vincent Rowland, an attorney, are present. In the living room, the commissioner finds a bag belonging to Christine Quires, Lola's guest. It evidently had been used that night, yet Lola informs Colt that Christine is at the Lion's Paw, a roadhouse, where Lola was to have joined her. Colt is surprised to find Mrs. Carewe's room in strange contrast to the surrounding wealth. Lola's own boudoir is a gaudy contradiction of the living room's elegance. Lola refuses to reveal the identity of the young man whose photograph adorns her dresser. Against orders, she enters the guest room alone. A scream follows. Rushing in, Colt finds her on the floor, unconscious. Dr. Hugh Baldwin, a friend, diagnoses the case as a heart attack. Lola dies. Colt calls it murder. Unnoticed, he takes something from the doctor's bag. Police Lieut. Fallon reports that no one but the doctor entered the house. The elevator boy claims that Christine returned home about 12:15 a. m., before Lola and the police arrived.

Heart of a Wife

Wounded Chinese Asks Startling Question

As I followed Katherine into the library where lay the wounded Chinese, I found myself tremulous with the excitement engendered by Harry Underwood's prediction that the man was showing signs of returning consciousness.

"Come up to the bed," Katherine said in an undertone, as we entered the room. "You're the only one of us all that he knows. I'd like his eyes to rest on something familiar at first."

The wounded man, his terrible emaciation showing where the bandages did not conceal his flesh, was lying as immobile as he had when he had first come from the operating table. Only a fluttering of his eyelids indicated that there was any bridge between the other side of the river of unconsciousness where his spirit wandered, and that upon which we watched him. Then, while our eyes dwelt fascinatingly upon his face those fluttering eyelids lifted and the wounded man looked straight at me.

I think all three of us performed the feat known as "holding one's breath" while those eyes changed in expression from the calm incurious gaze of a man gradually awakening from sleep of a swoon to a comprehension of what was going on around him. Then, to our dismay, as his eyes became accustomed to my face, the one nearest to his own, there came abject, piteous terror into his eyes.

LOSES CONSCIOUSNESS

"Face, face, face," he murmured with an intonation in which bewilderment and horror mingled. Then his eyes closed, a shudder ran through his figure, and Katherine immediately went into action.

"Fainted dead away, poor devil!" Harry Underwood explained to me softly, when Katherine signed to him that she did not need his services in her ministrations to the swooning man. "Now, why should the sight of you do that to him?" he added in puzzled fashion. "Because, undoubtedly, that's what sent him off, the sight of you."

"That, of course," he assented. "I can still hear him repeating that word 'face' as he looked at you. But, look! He's coming around again. Better keep out of sight."

"You go," I whispered, and he went back to Katherine's side while I waited with every nerve tense for the next words from the lips of the man just coming back to consciousness. They were not long in coming. Weak, low, with spaces for breath, they were still distinct.

"Where plitty lady?"

"Take this first and I'll tell you," Katherine said authoritatively, putting a spoon to his lips.

ASKS PECULIAR QUESTION

He swallowed the potion immediately and when she had watched him carefully for a few seconds, Katherine said casually:

"She no dream? I no dream her?"

"No," Katherine said soothingly. "You didn't dream her. She's right here in the room. Do you want to see her?"

"She no dream?" he said again.

"No," Katherine assured him again. "Shall I call her over?"

Katherine beckoned me and I walked toward the bed, managing by a miracle to keep my steps steady and my face calm.

I saw the bandaged figure wince perceptibly as I came within his vision, and realized that for some reason my appearance puzzled and terrified him.

"Speak to him," Katherine prompted. "Say anything."

"Are you feeling better?" I asked banally. But he ignored the query as if he had not heard it, and indeed I doubt if his concious mind did grasp it.

He studied my face intently, the puzzled look deepening in his eyes, then he said surprisingly:

"You have sister, 'twin'?"

I looked at him in amazement. What queer quirk of his brain was being voiced in that ridiculous query?

SUN-TELEGRAPH-WARNER THEATERS JUNIOR KOMIC CLUB

Jack Miller is certainly one fine master of ceremonies. He acted like a professional in conducting the regular meeting of the Sun-Telegraph Warner Theater Junior Komic Club in Mt. Oliver-Harris Theater Saturday.

Music for the stage show and for the group singing was played by the Cameraphone Chapter of the Komic Club of East Liberty. These young musicians have helped out at a lot of shows and rapidly are becoming known to all Komic Club members.

South Hills Theater—Florence Bird, Betty Williams, Dorothy Maisch, Selma Albert.

Grand Theater, Greensburg—Joe Attenburger.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

But when it creates situations based upon foreboding thoughts it is apt to side track common sense and good judgment.

Often people are encountered looking downcast and apprehensive, who, when questioned, admit that they "have a feeling that something awful is pending."

They haven't an idea from what source and after days have passed and the dreadful thing has not happened they realize how foolish they have been.

But soon something else comes up and they are picturing other dire results.

About all you can do with such persons is listen to them or leave them.

Fortify yourself to meet situations that ordinarily come to mankind.

In Iowa where the tall corn grows.
We say Bah to the cows and pigs—
What this state needs is more good gigs.
A tidy sum we'll give our schools
And change curriculums and rules.
We'll teach our farmer boys to play
Like Buddy Rogers and Vallee.
We'll teach them to be crooning swains
And loving bards to foolish dames.
From wealthy malls of greying locks
The senile gals from old Broadway
Will flock to dear old Iowa.
They'll bring along a lot of jack
And then good times will soon be back.

BE A PITTSBURGH BOOSTER
To Your Friends in Other Cities

The Brown Derby vs. the High Hat!

It seems that High Hat confided to a microphone that he regarded Brown Derby as a "shallow thinker." Brown Derby happened to tune in that night, and maybe his ears didn't burn!

At the Jefferson Day Dinner, at Washington, Brown Derby confided to a microphone that High Hat was a "demagogue."

Thus did Political Pals come to the parting of the ways. And all the Favorite Sons and Logical Contenders in the ranks of Democracy are standing by, with beaming countenances, the while they chat in unison that old-time favorite:

"Hold back,
Sit tight,

A Spotless Record

As the primary election campaign nears its conclusion charges and recriminations begin to fly back and forth.

Some pretty sharp things are being said in the race for the United States Senate. Gov. Pinchot is accused of financing and abetting the campaign of William S. Adams, anti-drink candidate, for the purpose of splitting Pennsylvania's anti-prohibition vote. Pinchot is hitting back vigorously.

One candidate stands out, like a good deed in a naughty world, free from all this welter of charges and unpleasant personalities. Nobody has assailed, nor can assail the record of Judge Joseph Stadtfeld, candidate for a full term on the Superior Court bench.

Time for a Decision

The County Commissioners Should Act Without Further Delay on the Wabash Tunnel Project.

Now that Chairman C. C. McGovern, of the Board of County Commissioners, has recovered sufficiently from the injury to his ankle to be able to make radio speeches from his bedside, we trust the board will soon announce a decision on the proposal that the Wabash bridge and tunnel be bought by the county and turned into a new artery for motor traffic between the Golden Triangle and the South Hills.

The Board of Commissioners that went out of office in December was too precipitate in approving the project. The present board must guard against going to the opposite extreme.

Public hearings have been held and arguments presented for and against the plan. The engineers have had time to prepare their reports.

If the Commissioners are convinced that the project will bring the benefits that are promised, that it will relieve traffic congestion, develop a section of the county that has been retarded by poor transportation facilities, and, by increasing real estate values and thus producing heavier taxes, will soon pay for itself, let them approve it and go ahead.

If, on the other hand, the engineering difficulties are too great, let them say so and turn to something else.

New Station Delayed

It Is to Be Hoped the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Utilities Will Soon Reach an Agreement.

After many months of consideration the Public Service Commission, by a divided vote, has upheld the public utilities' protest against the Pennsylvania Railroad's plans for terminal improvements in Pittsburgh to cost $20,000,000.

The utilities protested because, they said, no provision was made, in the plans for relocating streets, to pay them for the damage they would suffer through the removal of their poles, wires, pipes and tracks.

Charles M. Reppert, chief engineer of the City Department of Public Works, which had made an agreement with the Pennsylvania for relocation of the streets that would be affected by the building of the new station, talks of appealing from the Public Service Commission's decision to the courts. In any event a long time seems certain to elapse before the snarl can be untangled.

Even though the commission's ruling had been favorable to the railroad it is doubtful if the Pennsylvania would be ready to go ahead with the new station, for its financial condition is such that it recently said it would have to curtail its program for work on the electrification of its eastern lines this year and might suspend it altogether if it failed to receive a loan from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. And the eastern work has long taken precedence over the Pittsburgh improvements, though for no good reason.

It is to be hoped, nevertheless, that negotiations will be opened at once for an adjustment of the differences between the railroad and the city, on the one side, and the public utilities on the other, and that an agreement will soon be reached, so that the way will be cleared for immediate resumption of work by the Pennsylvania when its finances permit.

It is a shame that in the meantime a large tract of land on which the buildings were razed to make room for the new terminal must remain in its unsightly condition, to the annoyance and disadvantage of neighboring property owners.

New Swimming Pool Law

It Is Not a Mere Revenue Raiser, But Is Designed to Protect the Public Health.

The State Department of Health warns that although warm weather will soon be here owners and operators of bathing places and swimming pools are slow in applying for permits, as required by the new public bathing law.

Some of them are apparently under the impression that no more is involved in getting a permit than in obtaining an automobile license—that the applicant merely sends in the $10 fee, answers a few questions, and receives the license as a matter of course.

The Health Department states that much more is involved, and that no permit will be issued until the pool or bathing place has been personally inspected by a representative of the department and found to conform to sanitary and other requirements.

It is reassuring to learn that the Health Department is taking such pains to see that public bathing places are safe from the standpoint of health and cleanliness.

It is desirable that the owners of swimming pools move quickly to get their licenses, for as things stand now, the Health Department reports, more than half will be without official permits when the season opens, and that will be disappointing not only for them but for the public.

Leap Year Tips for Men

This is the most dangerous moment of Leap Year for the impressionable young man with no salesresistance. Even the dogwood looks like orange blossoms to a girl in the mating season! And every man looks just like Fate.

* * *

A few tips for the timid and inexperienced youth, on how to dodge the predatory female will no doubt be welcome. Four Wisconsin youths have formed what they term "The Buzzard Club" and have shaved their heads to render them less attractive to proposals—which shows how acute the situation is. But don't lose heart Boys—there's always a way out!

Never encourage a girl by letting her call you up at the office. Always be "in conference" or "out of town" or "too busy." Keep your stenographer or the office boy enlightened and your telephone number dark.

* * *

* * *

Never let a woman take you motoring unless you know that her intentions are honorable—not matrimonial. When she calls for you in her roadster, send your mother to the door, with the message that you have a headache and must get your beauty sleep.

Permit no girl to shower you with expensive presents. Buy your own cigar-lighters—or do without. Matches are royal tinder—when carried for virtue's sake!

* * *

Beware when a girl begins to mother you; insists on feeding you aspirin and begs you to wear your muffler and overshoes. She has but one object—and it isn't platonic.

* * *

When a woman comes right out and asks you to marry her, have your comeback ready. Ask her if she is WORTHY of a pure young man's love. If she can afford to support you in the style to which you intended to become accustomed and can always keep you in monogrammed cigarets, sport cars, good liquor and fancy beach robes. Then tell her to go and see your MOTHER about it.

* * *

A wise boy just can't be too careful these days when girls are actually being encouraged to "do the wooing" and every other woman he meets is after just one thing—a WEDDING RING!

* * *

Oh, yes, Big Boy, girls at last have the right to propose. They also have the right to hunt elephants with butterfly nets. Which is like working a rowing machine—wonderful exercise, but WHERE do you GET?

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Isn't It So?

He that worketh wickedness by another is wicked himself.

When our hatred is too keen it places us beneath those we hate.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, April 18.—Diary of a modern Pepys: Up and word Jack Dempsey stopped off to see my boyhood home while motoring through Gallipolis, which touched me. And Eddie Dowling the play actor, breezed in and for some reason he always calls me "Obie."

So at petty chores until late afternoon and to call for Peggy and Aubrey Eads and on to Beekman Place to a tea, talking to Hugh Troy, the young naturalist, and Grover Alexander and John Randall. And George Huston sang "That's Why Darkies Are Born," without music, very tenderly.

In the evening to the Kent Coopers for Kent's birthday party and all very merry, what with Reinald Werrenrath singing "Mandalay" and Jim Quirk reciting. Then driving Will H. and Jessie Hays to the Waldorf and home to labor until after 3 a. m.

* * *

The passing of James Regan, of the old Knickerbocker Hotel, removed the last of New York's Mine Hosts of an earlier generation. He rose from bartender in a Third avenue saloon to command what was in its day Gotham's most fashionable hotel. He was the sort who arose at 5:30 a. m. to taste the coffee. He quit at the peak of his fame.

I am curiously attracted by the melancholy of the dingy pawnshop windows scattered throughout the lower East Side. Each unredeemed pledge symbolizes a heart wrench. Behind forbidding windows lay violins, bethrothal rings, heart-shaped lockets, spangled fans, hall clocks, grim revolvers, empty purses, overcoats, gold clasped books of verse, strands of cheap pearl, parlor pictures, grandma shawls and other trinkets now so worthless yet once so highly prized. The most tragic pledge I ever saw was in London's Soho—a staring, unwinking glass eye.

A pleasantly mysterious figure of Broadway's swirl is Tippy Gray, a stocky young nomad with a pouncing mind, who roams the world as fancy dictates. He may be writing music for a Moulin Rouge show in Paris one month, and the next is bobsledding professionally around the breathless curves of Lake Placid. An anthology of human paradox, he leisurely sips pernod in Rue Cambon and the next day is thundering toward Shanghai's Bund on a Siberian express. He has sunned in the blaze of the Southern Cross, mushed through Alaskan snows and cradled for the night in tops of Formosa's camphor trees. His bases are New York and Hollywood, but he is seldom in either place for more than a few weeks at a stretch.

On Bleecker street the babies' noses
Aren't pampered by the scent of roses.

Weber and Field's seasonal return to vaudeville warms the heart of oldsters, yet their buffoonery proves a puzzle to moderns. The pop-bottle splutter, checkered clothes, padded embonpoint, chin whiskers, dinky derbies and other artifices of the low comic have trickled out with the sands of time. Another generation views them as so many museum exhibits. One wonders how the capers of the Jessels, Frank Fays and the Phil Bakers will be received 20 years hence. * * *

With wit changing so swiftly, it seems inconceivable, in a now cautious maturity, that I was the howling nit-wit rolling into the aisle at the Columbia in Cincinnati when the vaudeville monologist, James Richmond Glenroy, billed "The Man With Green Gloves," referred to "Chauncey Oilcloth Woodyard Kindling."

Caught in the backwash of another grammatical blunder, I feel like the old Sun's editor, similarly taxed by a school ma'm who wound up: "Ten thousand grammarians hang on your reply." The Sun's caption: "Let 'em hang."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

What do you do after dinner at night?

Do you amuse yourself quietly at home? Write letters? Read? Sew? Play solitaire? Put in an hour on a correspondence course? Listen to the radio?

Or do you get restless—want "something doing?" Feel that you can't endure staying indoors? Go out for a game of pool, or a movie, or walk around window shopping? Or, if it's rainy call up someone for bridge?

In short, CAN YOU ENTERTAIN YOURSELF IN YOUR LEISURE HOURS, OR MUST YOU BE ENTERTAINED?

ARE YOU CONTENT WITH YOUR OWN THOUGHTS, OR MUST YOU HAVE EXCITEMENT?

Yes, any normal person needs some excitement. But the person who must have constant excitement isn't normal. There is something very wrong with a person like that.

Panteleimon Romanof wrote a book called "Three Pairs of Silk Stockings." It is about several people—once strong, fine people—whose lives are going to pieces under the Soviet regime. Hypolit Kisliakof is one of them. Kisliakof lives with a nagging wife in one small, ugly, dirty room. He is going mad in that little room, filled with noises and smells; but he does not realize how badly off he is until his wife goes on a vacation and he is left alone.

For so long he has dreamed of being left alone. To be quite alone—to be able to read and think—that will be heaven! But now he is alone; and it isn't heaven.

He did not know what to do with himself and had no desire to touch any of the books. The empty room gave him no pleasure, but depressed him with its silence, and he was impelled to get up and go out. Evidently the interruption of his spiritual life has caused a sort of paralysis. He felt clearly his inner emptiness. For a long time Kisliakof had noticed dangerous symptoms; he could not sit alone for a single hour, but felt the urge to go out into the street, to the theater, as though owing to the inner stagnation he must have external stimulants."

Dangerous symptoms—fidgeting, fussing, needing "something doing"—those are dangerous symptoms. They are symptoms of that "inner emptiness" which drove Kisliakof out on the street.

It wasn't a trivial thing—wandering out like that, unable to stay alone with himself. It was a terrible thing. It was as terrible as a starving man's search for food.

Kisliakof was starving; but not for food. His empty spirit needed refilling. He was looking for those secret sensations of power and peace and wisdom and wonder. Once he had been able to supply those things for himself in quiet hours of thought and study, and friendly conversation. Those hours had passed. The disorder around him had crowded the order out of his soul.

So Kisliakof went into the street to find his strength again. But of course he couldn't. We can never find strength that way. We must make strength FOR ourselves and IN ourselves—by depending ON ourselves.

And unless we can do that, we're in a bad way. For there is nothing else on earth that we can depend on except ourselves, when a hard pinch comes. Fun and thrills and fussing around—they are great while they last, but they do not last long. And after they're over we are as empty as restless, as we were before, and as helpless to face and fight fate.

Poor Kisliakof couldn't live quietly within himself. His inner order had been crowded out by the disorder of that crowded, hateful room; and so he lost those resources which he once had within himself, and they were nowhere else to be found.

They are not live wires. They are dim bulbs. They are empty.

The streets are filled with people like that. The nation is filled with people like that. People going around in dizzy circles running away from themselves because they have nothing to give themselves.

Are YOU that sort of a person? You're out of luck, stranger, if you are. Better slow up. Get acquainted with yourself. Learn to live WITH and IN and ON yourself.

A Truce to Our Market Minded Statesmanship

By Claude G. Bowers

Author of "The Struggle for Democracy in America," "Founders of the Republic," "Jefferson and Democracy," "The Tragic Era," and other important works, now writing for the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

Col. Henry W. Anderson, of Virginia, is the Republican member of the President's commission which reported on the prohibition law and favored its modification. He now addresses a party meeting in Richmond and says that the repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment would mean chaos. If we remember correctly, we did not have anything remotely approaching the present social chaos before it was passed. But, that aside, he is opposed to a referendum on the law. He bases his opposition on the ground that the Constitution does not provide for anything of the sort. And besides, he says, it would make no difference anyhow.

We have always thought we knew something about the political philosophy of Thomas Jefferson, and something about the meaning of "government of the people, by the people, and for the people." We had not taken it for granted, as the colonel seems to, that the will of the majority of the people means nothing in our governmental system. But then the colonel is a Hamiltonian and not a Jeffersonian.

Just why anyone pretending to believe in government by the people should be opposed to a referendum on any question affecting all of the people of the country is beyond apprehension. Both sides in the prohibition controversy contend that the majority of the people are with them. Why not put it to a test?

When Untermyer Quizzed Late J. P. Morgan

The administration group in the Senate, disturbed by the failure of its counsel to show that there is a conspiracy, international or partisan, to smash the market and injure the country, is now bent on the employment of Samuel Untermyer. He has had much experience in such matters. The keenest intellectual treat we ever had was in listening to his examination of the big wigs of high finance in the Pujo investigation 20 years ago.

Especially vivid in our recollection of the suavity and almost sweetness with which he examined the late J. Pierpont Morgan. The most surprising feature of that examination was the forgetfulness of the old financial dictator. We assumed, at the moment, that it was a convenient lapse of memory, but we have since heard on the best authority that at that time he was ill, and frightened, and had not been intimately identified with the matter under investigation for some years.

* * *

More Harm Than Good

It is said that some of the Democrats in the Senate want the investigation into the mysteries of the stock market to extend back to the days when the damage was done to the masses of the investors. That there is some party significance in the present activities of the administration regarding the market is quite evident. During the last 10 years the man in the street has been trained to look to the market quotations for a reflection of business conditions. With a campaign already in progress, and an election approaching, it is embarrassing to find securities falling. Four years ago Mr. Hoover's associates pointed to the soaring prices—soaring to grotesque heights—as evidence of booming prosperity. The man in the street has not forgotten that training. He is still looking at the quotations.

But the time has passed when it is possible for statements from a President, a Secretary of the Treasury, or a Secretary of Commerce, to influence the market. Efforts have been made from these high quarters to intimidate those who would liquidate their securities. This has failed. The present investigation, inspired by administration circles, has done more harm than good.

* * *

Officials Knew the Market Was Unsound

However, if we are to have an investigation it should be thorough and should cover the bull market of 1928 and 1929, as well as the market today. The historian and the psychologist are deeply interested in the processes through which an entire nation was thrown into a state of hysteria. The G. O. P. bubble of those years is quite as bizzare as that of John Law. The Mississippi and South Sea bubbles had nothing on it. Now that the bubble has burst, thousands of the victims feel that their losses are due to the failure in some quarters to sound a note of common sense warning. They know that corporations whose stock was soaring to the skies knew that the earnings of the corporations could not possibly justify such figures, and some feel that the corporations themselves might have said so.

But, allowing for business selfishness and timidity, the victims are more resentful of the failure of the administration, this and the Coolidge administration, to sound a note of warning.

Most of all they are resentful because these administrators, through their highest spokesmen, constantly assured the people that there were sound values behind the skyrocketing prices — thus leading the victims on to their ruin.

* * *

The Public Wants to Know

So there can be no real investigation that will interest the victims of the bubble that has burst, which does not seek an explanation from those high public officials for their misleading statements and assurances.

In view of what the administration circles are trying to do with this investigation, it will be remarkable if the Democrats show no interest in this other phase. The crash in America came in 1929, not in 1932; it came as a result of conditions not only tolerated but encouraged by the administration in 1928.

Why?

The public wants to know.

* * *

Santa Claus Was Killed

Steel is down on the market. It is down on the market because the earnings on steel are down.

The earnings are down because the foreign market for steel has been lost, and because of the reduction to a minimum of the purchasing power of 40,000,000 people affected by unemployment, and of the 30,000,000 people on the farms.

Restore the foreign market and the purchasing power of the people and there will be plenty of building and the earnings of steel will go up, and when the earning power of steel goes up the stocks will go up correspondingly.

And so with railroads and all other securities.

But in administration quarters there is impatience because stocks do not go up, or stay up, regardless of the earning power behind them, and apparently it is thought that through some uncanny legerdemain the market can be managed regardless of conditions.

But Santa Claus was killed when the G. O. P. bubble burst in October, 1929.

Restore the Purchasing Power of 60,000,000 People

Wouldn't the administration and its friends be better employed seriously considering some readjustments of the destructive tariff to revive our foreign trade, and in seeking some method, through governmental co-operation, for restoring the purchasing power of 60,000,000 people?

But if we are going to go into the market, as Mr. Hoover wishes, let us know all about it from 1928 on, that may be worth while.
